President's Plan For Veterans' Pensions Likely To Be Adopted

SWICK'S BILL TO BE SUBSTITUTED

House Agrees To Act Speedily On Measure Following Veto

WASHINGTON, June 25.—
President Hoover today was within sight of victory in his slashing fight to kill the Rankin veterans bill which, he declared would cause a treasury deficit and bring a boost in the income tax rate.

The price of the victory, however, is a compromise bill providing out right pensions for 25,000 World War Veterans at a cost of $50,000,000 a year for the next three years.

The President's apparent triumph came after the well-oiled republican machine of the house swung into action in a caucus which lasted almost until midnight.

To Sustain Veto
The caucus not only pledged enough votes to sustain a presidential veto of the Rankin Bill but also enough to insure passage of the pension plan, it was announced. Republican leaders pledged themselves to keep congress in session until some veterans bill is signed by the president.

Speaker Nicholas Longworth and Rep. Tison of Connecticut, a republican floor leader, led the fight in the house caucus with ringing appeals to stand by the president and the party.
A canvass of state delegations showed 154 pledged to sustain a veto and in a statement issued at midnight leaders declared that they would have

PA NEW OBSERVES

Speaking to a local business man this morning, Young Pa News was told that there has been more golf equipment sold this year than in the past 10 years. Pa News thinks the Municipal golf course has attracted many who were non-golfers previously.

Heavy storm clouds hovered low over New Castle Tuesday afternoon, but there wasn't much rain to speak about. Residents in different sections of the city report the wind as having attained a forceful velocity, leveling loose hanging tree limbs and other things. Other sections not far away got plenty of rain no doubt.

With a new rustic lodge building made possible for the Y. M. C. A. summer camp by the gift of Mrs.
Fred L. Rentz, the tract of grounds will begin to take on a real up and going camp. Since the camp was first established there needed facilities have been lacking. The new lodge will be completed July 1.

Letter carriers are certainly thankful these days that the mail is light.
Even with a light bag the delivery is a real task nowadays.

If this torrid weather continues until Friday, Hans Wagner is going to have quite a time of it in the benefit mushball game at Taggart field. But he's probably been through hotter ones in big league days.

The humidity in the air yesterday caused many to believe that it was the hottest day of the year, but the thermometer told a different story.
The maximum temperature yesterday was 88.

Find Wrecked Plane; May Solve Mystery Of Mail Fliers Fate

(International News Service)
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, June 25.—Portions of a wrecked plane believed to have been the airmail plane flown by Maurice Graham, noted pilot, when he disappeared in a blinding snowstorm enroute from Las Vegas, Nev., to Salt Lake, last January, were found today in the Wasatch mountains, near Cedar City, Utah, south of here.
Pieces of a torn parachute were also found.

Identification of the wrecked plane
as that of Graham has been tentatively made, according to word received by Western Air Express officials here.
No trace of Graham's body was found, and an intensive search in the rugged mountain country around Cedar City will be launched today.
Western Air officials here expressed the belief that Graham escaped death in the plane crash but fear he may have succumbed to the storm in his attempt to reach shelter after the plane crashed.

WEATHER TOO HOT SENATORS CLAIM

President Hoover Adamant That London Treaty Get
Speedy Ratification

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Almost a third of the Senate was in rebellion today against President Hoover's demand that the members stay on the job in torrid Washington until the London Naval treaty is ratified.

A round-robin variously reported to contain from 24 to 28 signatures and asking permission to allow the treaty to go over until after the November elections, has been communicated to the White House.

Hoover Adwants
Mr. Hoover, however, was said to be sticking to his determination that the treaty must be ratified before the Senate goes home, either at the present regular session, or in a special session he has threatened to call immediately following adjournment.

The president, it was stated at the White House this morning, has "thoroughly canvassed" the situation, and is convinced that a majority of the senators will support his immediate ratification plan.

Ambassador Dawes and Ambassador Morrow, both members of the American delegation at London, were among those consulted by the president.

Murdered Woman Found In Lake

Find Body Of Murdered Woman In Lake Michigan—Believed Victim
Of Fiend

TAPE USED TO STRAP MOUTH

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, June 25.—The body of a murdered woman, her mouth strapped with adhesive tape and her head tightly wrapped with cheesecloth, was taken from Lake Michigan today.

The woman's purse, which had been strapped to her with the same kind of tape, which fastened at her mouth, yielded papers which identified her as Mrs. May Galbraith, 63 years old, a practical nurse.
An investigation showed that there was no water in the lungs indicating that drowning was not the cause of death.

An abrasion over the right eye, apparently caused by a blow, led police to conclude that the woman was slain, perhaps by some demented person, and her body carefully trussed and tossed into the lake. No motive for the murder could be discovered.
Mrs. Galbraith, it was learned, had gone to a neighborhood motion picture theatre last night and had not been heard from since.

Adjournment Of Congress Will Not Occur Saturday

Boulder Dam Row And Other Disputes Hold Up Project Adjourning.

CONGRESS LIKELY TO CONTINUE WEEK

Veterans Pension Bill To Be Disposed Of Before Con-

WASHINGTON, June 25.—War anew over the boulder dam projecon the Colorado river, with gag-rule threatened against a potential filibuster, occupied the senate today while the house wrestled with the world war pension problem.

The plan of administration leaders to adjourn congress Saturday was abandoned. Instead they announced congress would be held in session until the pension dispute was settled satisfactorily to President Hoover, and the second deficiency appropriation bill enacted. This program will require another week.

Boulder Dam Row
The Boulder Dam row developed over a $10,660,000 appropriation in the latter bill for starting work July 1 on the project. The two Arizona senators, Ashurst and Hayden, immediately declared war on this fund, but administration leaders retaliated by circulating a petition to invoke the gag-rule of closure on discussion of this item. If adopted by a two-thirds vote of the senate, a vote would be forced within a few hours.

A prohibition controversy also was expected during discussion of the appropriation bill, due to house action in refusing all funds for President
Hoover's law enforcement commission.
At the instance of senator Glass (D) of Va., a dry, a $50,000 fund was written into the pending bill but with a provision that the commission must devote all its time to investigating prohibition conditions.

Senator Jones (R) of Wash., administration dry leader proposed an amendment restoring the whole

Youngstown Man Meets Death At Franklin, Penna.

Truck Loaded With Sugar
Plunges Down Incline Into Creek—Man Instantly Killed

(International News Service)
FRANKLIN, Pa., June 25.—Andrew Lotterman, 39, of Youngstown, O., was killed instantly today when the express merchandise truck he was driving got out of control on Fifteenth street hill, swerved crazily down the steep grade and crashed into French Creek.

The truck gathered momentum as it rolled down the incline, while Lotterman fighting to apply his useless brakes, and was trailing a speed of more than 75 miles an hour when it hurtled over the New York Central tracks and into the creek.

Lotterman was thrown clear of the truck and his body sank in 15 feet of water.
He had suffered a fractured skull, but his death was believed to have been caused by drowning.

The truck was demolished, pieces of twisted wood and metal were picked up from the waters of French Creek, while a piece of the drive shaft was found on the hill a mile from where Lotterman met death.

Police expressed the belief that the truck, carrying a cargo of nine tons of sugar, had been overloaded.

Lotterman was employed by the Mutual Transportation Company of Youngstown. He was the father of three children, one of whom is only a year old.

Cross Atlantic Ocean Successfully

The Southern Cross, which once flew the Pacific from America to Hawaii and Australia, flew over the Atlantic from Port Marnock, Ireland, to Newfoundland, under the direction of its noted pilot, Major Charles Kingsford-Smith, who says this will be his last air adventure. The plane was forced down in Newfoundland this morning. It was the aim of the fliers to make a non-stop flight to New York. Photos show the famous plane in flight, below; and top, left to right, Capt. J. P. Saul, navigator; Major Kingsford-Smith; Evert Van Dyke, assistant pilot, and John W. Stannage, radio operator, who comprise the intrepid quartet.

RADIO SAVED OUR LIVES SAYS FLIGHT COMMANDER

(International News Service Staff

HARBOR GRACE, Newfoundland, June 25.—"The radio saved our lives.

In the five words Major Charles Kingsford-Smith, commander of the ocean-spanning airplane Southern Cross, today paid magnificent tribute to the stuttering radio key in his plane, and the answering keys in radio stations along Newfoundland's treacherous coast.

The crew of the Southern Cross, elated beyond words over their achievement of being the first airmen successfully to span the Western Ocean from east to west today were busy with preparations for a takeoff early tomorrow on the last leg of their flight to New York.

"The great silver ship which has spanned continents and oceans and has now literally flown around the world, looked the graceful bird that she is today as mechanics of the flying field here worked in frantic haste checking the motors, compass and other equipment of the plane, while other attendants rushed supplies of gasoline and motor oil for the ship.

To New York Thursday
Major Kingsford-Smith had hoped to be able to continue the flight to New York late today, but the virtual exhaustion of himself and members of his crew, and the time required to obtain the necessary supplies of fuel and oil, influenced him to postpone his hop-off until tomorrow morning.

The population of Harbor Grace, long accustomed to watching the passage of trans-Atlantic planes, which saw the young Lochinvar Lindbergh's fleet passage eastward to Paris and immortal glory, saw the great tri-motored ship of the then commander

Vatican Officials Deny Pope's Illness

Pope Pius XI Has Not Modified Any Of Daily Habits And Is Not Ill

(International News Service)
VATICAN CITY, June 25.—"Pope Pius XI has not modified any of his daily habits and it is ridiculous to affirm that his eminence is ill," an intimate of the pontiff told the International News Service today in response to widespread rumors that anxiety had been expressed over the pope's health.

The pontiff planned to hold several audiences today and he was preparing for a solemn canonization ceremony next Sunday.
Physicians of the Holy See pronounced the pope's condition as not serious but they advised him to take daily rest periods in order not to aggravate his bladder trouble any more than necessary.
The 73-year-old head of the Catholic church has found his strength taxed by the extreme summer heat and the exceptionally large number of audiences and religious ceremonies.

Flight Is Only "Sporting Stunt" Declares Eckener

(International News Service)
FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, June 25.—The flight of the Southern Cross, while a marvelous achievement, was little more than a stunt, in the opinion of Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin.

"It was an admirable sporting achievement," said Dr. Eckener, "and a high tribute to the skill of the pilots. But it can only remain a sporting stunt, because the plane could carry neither passengers nor mail transporting only a load of gasoline without actual traffic value."
"In the present stage of aircraft development the dirigible remains the logical means of transportation for long distance."

ST. JOHNS, NEWFOUND-

Charles Kingsford-Smith and his three companions landed their tri-motored monoplane
the Southern Cross at the Harbor Grace airport today at 6:53 a. m. eastern daylight time after a gallant flight with impenetrable fog banks on the last part of their nonstop flight across the North At-

The four men were tired out from the strain of many hours of blind flying through the pitch-dark fog-compass gave them trouble and they were unable to get accurate radio bearings and determine the plane's position.

First Successful Flight
It was the first time an east-to-west crossing of the Atlantic ocean to make a non-stop flight through to New York, were happy in their achievement.

Serious Situation At Seville Spain As Strikers Riot

Ten Injured In Clashes Between Police And Strikers—
40,000 Out Of Work

(International News Service)
LONDON, June 25.—The Civil and Military authorities at Seville, Spain, were prepared today to use the utmost severity in suppressing disorders and rioting in the wake of a general strike which has thrown about 40,000 persons out of work, according to dispatches received here from the Spanish City.

Ten persons were seriously injured in clashes between strikers and police last night. Heavy detachments of police patrolled the streets through the night to prevent additional outbreaks.
Hundreds have been injured in the strike riots during the past 48 hours, although only one death has been reported.

WIMODAUSIS PICNIC AT CASCADE PARK SUCCESS

One of the most outstanding successes of the summer season was the Wimodausis picnic, which was held at Cascade Park on Tuesday, with approximately 200 in attendance. Dinner, being efficiently served by the appointed committee with Mrs. Anna Wagner as chairman, at 12:30 o'clock, included all the dishes necessary to make such an event complete. At intervals throughout the serving, toasts and speeches were given by various ones, appropriate to the occasion.

At the conclusion of the menu, the program arranged by the sports committee of which Miss Martha Bigley was chairman, was in progress, with the following results: Girls ball-throwing contest: Beatrice Reiber, Marian Morgan and Mary Pashley; boys ball-throwing contest: Alfred Sadler, Burwin Thomas; Boys three-legged contest, Thomas Armstrong and Gurwin Thomas; Girls three-legged race, Mary Johns and Marian Thomas; Obstacle race, Beatrice Goodrich and Betty Reiber; thirty-inch dash, Murwin Johns and Thos. Armstrong; Candle race, Mrs. Laura French's team won.

Throughout the afternoon, 6 drawings were staged with prizes being awarded to Mrs. M. B. Schneider, Mrs. G. A. Jones, Mrs. Russell Melvin, Mrs. Paul Griffiths, Miss Mary Pashley and Mrs. Frank Woods. On account of rain, the program of sports was not completed.

Much credit is due those comprising the committees having charge of arrangements for the manner in which all co-operated, marking the most successful picnic ever held in the history of the Wimodausis.

Social Hour Club

Members of the Social Hour Club enjoyed breakfast at Cascade Park on Tuesday morning, with a splendid attendance. Covers were laid at the tables in the grove at an early hour, with the remainder of the day being pleasantly spent informally. As a special guest the ladies had Mrs. Houk.

Plans were made for another event of the same nature, which will take place on July 8 at Cascade Park.

WEDDING PERFORMED AT HIGH NOON TUESDAY

A pretty home wedding took place Tuesday when Miss Gladys Esther Burrier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Burrier of Pleasant Valley, O., became the bride of the Rev. Harry J. Scheide, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Scheide, of Madison avenue, this city, in the former's home.

To strains of the wedding march, played by Mrs. Edwin Walker, sister of the groom, the bride and groom entered the parlor, where the nuptials were heard at high noon by Dr. J. L. McCusker, pastor of the church.

The bride, who was beautifully gowned in white georgette, made on the princess pattern with high waistline and long, uneven hemline, carried an arm bouquet of bride's roses and baby-breath. Miss Mabel Leasure, who was chosen as bride of honor, wore a gown of rose georgette made in the same style and carried pink roses and sweet peas. Little Irene Scheide, daughter of the bride, acted as ring bearer.

George Mack served as best man. A wedding dinner supplemented the ceremony at the Ritz Hotel in Zanesville, O., covers being laid for 14 guests at the bride's table, which was appropriately decorated for the occasion, with tones of pink and white predominating.

The bride is a graduate of the Nashport high school and of Muskingum normal department and has been an instructress for the past four years in the Hopewell township schools. Rev. Scheide, a Methodist minister, is a graduate of the Princeton Theological Seminary of Princeton, N. J., class of '30.

Upon their return from a wedding trip after July 1 they will be at home to their friends at Centerville, O., where Rev. Scheide is pastor of the Concord Presbyterian church. Those attending from New Castle were Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Scheide, daughter and daughter Ethel, Mrs. Edwin Walker and Mrs. G. O. Scheide, daughter and daughter Irene.

Attend Exercises.

Mrs. John W. Fessler, Mrs. John McConahy and Mrs. Charles L. Gripps have returned from Erie, Pa., where they attended the graduation exercises of Rorian of his class. He received a prize of gold and was given a four-year scholarship at Oberlin college. Mr. Bryan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Bryan, former residents of New Castle.

BON VOYAGE LUNCHEON FOR MRS. F. F. UREY

Mrs. F. F. Urey, Laurel boulevard, was guest of honor Tuesday at a luncheon in the Field club house when members of the North Hill Kensington gathered to say bon voyage to Mrs. Urey, who is sailing July 2 on the steamship California for a tour of Europe and to witness the Passion Play at Oberammergau.

Covers were cleverly marked for 18 at a table artistically centered with summer flowers from the center of which emerged a ship, typical of the trip, the place cards were carried out in a similar manner. Following the luncheon the afternoon hours were spent at bridge and Mrs. Urey was presented with a lovely "bon voyage" gift.

Out of town guests included Mrs. Flora Halpenny, DuBois, and Mrs. E. E. Bushman, Butler.

NOW FOR SOME SPEED

ANNOUNCEMENT that the State Supreme Court has disposed of the technicalities that have been delaying a start of the work on repaving of Grant street, Croton avenue, and Butler avenue for weeks past, and that the way is now clear for signing of the contract between the city and the Woods and Golder Company, is good news to the citizens of New Castle.

Casting aside any particular feeling one may have had in the case, or in the cause of the controversy, it is a relief for the people of New Castle that the matter is settled, and the long disappointment at delay in starting of these improvements is about ended.

Now, it is a time for making speed. Nothing can be done to take advantage of the time lost by the legal tie-up that was occasioned by the losing contractor. It is the hope and the expectation of citizens that the projects will be pushed forward with all possible speed.

There appears to be no reason for long tie-ups of the streets involved. Plenty of labor can be secured, there will be no difficulty in getting abundance of materials needed, and everything is set for rapid progress.

Woods and Golder Company has announced intention of starting work at once, as soon as the contract is signed, and of pushing the projects as rapidly as possible.

Citizens of New Castle are all set to witness rapid completion of these big street improvements which have been projected for months.

GIVE THE TARIFF A CHANCE

Away back in the Wilson days when the President brought the League of Nations pact to Washington the Senate discussed it for a long time. The issue was not partisan. Its opponents in the Senate were exceedingly obstreperous. Some of them cared little for facts. They were not only violent in denunciation, but deliberately misleading. They succeeded eventually in administering dope to the country which "took". The public mind was so poisoned that it never recovered, and today the League of Nations is dead so far as the United States is concerned.

In precisely the same way the World Court has been misrepresented. To use very plain language it has been lied about. There was never any real necessity for a single reservation in the agreement of the United States to enter its membership. Reservations, however, have been made which surely cover every disputed point. They are awaiting an auspicious moment for the President to submit them to the Senate, when falsification will again be indulged in.

There is now on hand the London naval pact. The die-hards are again at their work. We are going to have an inferior navy, they insist. But the critics of England are stressing British inferiority and those of Japan are asserting that their nation will be helpless. Mr. Hoover is entirely justified in urging immediate ratification, and he will call an extra session of the Senate for that purpose. Postponement would give opportunity for misrepresentation to spread.

In like manner the tariff bill is assailed. For purely political reasons the coalition of Democrats and Western Radicals is telling the country that the measure will prove ruinous; that we have built a high wall around our borders; that foreign governments will retaliate; that our foreign trade will be lost. And so on. They intend to carry their fierce denunciations into the Congressional campaign. Fortunately they are not to be allowed to spread their abuse unopposed. There is another side to this question, and the President, the Secretary of Commerce and the Secretary of the Treasury have already given the public real information.

There is a free list of sixty-three per cent. of imports. Agricultural rates are higher than they ever have been, but comparatively few other items are, whereas there is an actual decrease in some products. Reorganization of the tariff commission with enlarged powers should be able to straighten out inequalities. If the commission operates effectually there should be no need of further general revision for years to come, perhaps never.

The country's interests require that we shall have a rest from agitation. Nothing is to be gained by denouncing the law. It has just gone into effect. It should be given a chance to prove or disprove its value. Nobody has been hurt yet. Nobody, we believe, will be hurt. The cries that we hear on the other side of the Atlantic are mostly political, just as they are here. There is no occasion for the public to be disturbed by them.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Most men on the road to riches ignore the scenery.

These people who are so impressed by non-stop records never saw or heard a sewing circle.

Sometimes it looks as if never again would the saxophone allow the slip-horn to have the center of the stage.

"Every Man Is Here Tonight"

"Every man who started out with me has returned," said Admiral Byrd at the Auditorium at the conclusion of his address in acceptance of the National Geographic Society medal for his South Polar expedition. "We left not a single man on the ice. Every one is here tonight."

This simple statement evoked instant and loud applause from the great audience assembled to witness the ceremony and to see the pictures of the expedition. Perhaps no other words uttered caused so ardent a manifestation. There on the stage, behind the commander, sat the eighty men who accompanied him, every man present as on the day when the expedition sailed for the South. A truly wonderful demonstration of splendid leadership.

It needed no particular proof through the vivid motion pictures of the perils of the expedition to cause those who were present to appreciate the magnitude of the achievement of taking this number of men to Antarctica, some to the very Pole, and back home without the loss of a single life—indeed, without any serious mishap. Those perils were graphically shown. The terrors of the freakish climate were evident. The treachery of the ice was thrillingly demonstrated. Yet there on the stage was every man who went South with Byrd—no absences, no substitutes—all present and all well.

This circumstance is perhaps the most gratifying of all connected with the expedition. The penalties paid for polar research and attainment have been heavy. Many gallant men have perished in efforts to extend human knowledge of the terrible wastes of the frozen zones. Cairns now standing beneath the snow mark many graves. But in this case, thanks to careful provisioning and to the use of every conceivable device for comfort and for the sustenance of life and for the averting disaster, this band of eighty men went out and spent months in the Antarctic and came back—every man, with every limb in perfect health.

Such leadership is worth all the plaudits that can be bestowed. And such a crew, obedient to orders, true to discipline, co-operative in the highest degree with the commander, intelligently appreciative of the need, of team work in deeds and in spirit, and for the averting disaster, this band of eighty men went out and spent months in the Antarctic and came back—every man, with every limb in perfect health.

That New Baby
Buying And Selling.
Time To Advertise.
There Were Two Gamblers.

R. ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1930, King Features Syn., Inc.)

Reporters say the Lindbergh baby's first name will be Charles. The middle name, if any, ought to be Morrow, since it can't be Anne.

Another reporter said: "The birth of a boy made Lindbergh's biggest dream come true."

The birth of a girl might have made a bigger dream come true. First, an older sister is a good influence on younger brothers.

Second, girls, not boys, inherit the genius of the father.

But the Lindbergh baby boy will inherit through his mother the talent of his grandfather, Dwight W. Morrow, and that is worth having. Scientists tell you: "Acquired characteristics are not inherited." They are wrong. If acquired characteristics were not inherited, we should all still be cave men.

The Lindbergh baby, inheriting flying on both sides, will fly naturally.

Galton's studies in heredity prove that girl babies inherit their fathers' powers. And the four-months-old baby girl belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., proves it also. If you lend her one finger, she seizes it and pulls herself straight up in her crib. She gets that from her father's polo right hand. Inheriting the financial ability of the Mellon family, through her mother, she ought to be well equipped.

When prices are high in Wall street, men buy. When prices are low, men sell. The late Russell Sage said: "Everybody has at least one chance in his life to buy Western Union at $50 a share. Don't miss your chance when it comes."

In the next few weeks or months, thousands will have opportunities for good investment that may not come again in their lives. But they will wait patiently until prices have been driven sky high, and THEN they will buy.

These are dull days, and energetic days for advertising. The turtle ran while the rabbit was asleep, and won. The wise advertiser builds his business while others indulge in a "false economy" nap.

Mr. Davies Lewis, advertising manager of Cadillac Automobile, has framed on his office wall the reply of the champion "hog caller" when asked how he won the competition:

"You must have appeal as well as power in your voice. You must make the hog believe THAT YOU HAVE SOMETHING FOR HIM."

In modern business, you must not only make the hog believe that you have something for him; you must really have something for him.

Worried Wall Street felt better yesterday, the tiresome "rush to sell" was banished by a "rebound in prices." Even cotton and wheat, depressed in the morning, picked up in the afternoon.

"Business Week" tells of an old gentleman elected county treasurer, then lured into a "no-limit" poker game by two professional gamblers.

They bet $1,000. He retired for a moment, bringing back all the money he had and all the money belonging to the county, and told the gamblers: "Before you win, you will have to break me and the county too."

The gamblers quit.

"Tell that story to newspapermen," Mr. Legge, of the Farm Board, indicated that grain gamblers, selling short against Uncle Sam, might rue it.

The best way to do that would be to get a job as office boy with Mr. Clarence Woolley, top head of the American Radiator Company, and listen to observations made by that gentleman in the course of business. He really does know the business from the bottom up.

You can learn more about a man or a business by paying attention to the head than by spending time on the feet.

The Prince of Wales, 36 years old yesterday, has ordered himself, as a birthday present, a new airplane, described as "luxurious, with a totally enclosed cabin, making it unnecessary for his Royal Highness to wear a flying kit."

The Prince sets a good example in flying.

And the world like him. For him, you might rewrite the text to read:

"Seest thou a prince, diligent in his business, he shall stand before men."

Mussolini's doctrine that the world has talked too much about vague "liberty" and not enough about hard work, and one man power, is spreading in Germany.

In Saxony, Fascism is the second most powerful party in the state.

In Berlin, Fascists demanding the right to wear Fascist uniforms, threaten anti-Jewish programs, unless their demand is granted.

We met a friend of ours who came here recently from a little town in Arizona for a visit, and we asked him about the status of the water supply out there. He said it was rather indifferent, as they recently shut off the water supply, and no one found it out until there was a big fire.

Value Of Speed Is Questioned As Segrave Sacrifices Life

Public Feels That Limit Should Be Placed On Hazards Involved In Setting New Records On Sea Or Land Or In The Air.

Death of the "Speed King" Major Sir Henry O. Segrave, while engaged in trying out a fast motor boat on Lake Windermere in the famous Lake Country of England, is made the occasion by the public to deplore the ambition merely to set speed marks. Americans remember Segrave's performance at Daytona Beach, and the fatality that accompanied the attempt to challenge his mark. Admiration for the British marvel of skill is mingled with doubt as to the scientific value of exhibitions in which the chances are in favor of death.

As a sportsman, Americans admired him," attests the ALBANY NEWS, but that paper also observed that "Segrave made a faster machine than was safe and he has given up his life for the desire to beat all others." The News concedes that "the race owes its progress to the spirits that dare, that must pass all others." The MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL expresses the opinion that "the pioneers in any undertaking deserve all the glory that attaches a courageous adventurous spirit," but even so, it is still to be doubted that traveling on the earth at the rate of four miles a minute has a value commensurate with the risks involved.

Segrave himself is quoted by the FITTSBURGH POST-GAZETTE as having stated when he drove his Golden Arrow at Daytona Beach in March, 1929, that he had one chance in ten of coming through alive, and it is suggested that "taking a similar risk in a speed boat on Lake Windermere, the intrepid holder of records was killed" that "the one chance failed him." The Post-Gazette continues: "Knights for his Florida feat, Sir Henry was accounted one of the best qualified men in the world at handling speeding engines on land and water. His skill was not great enough to save him." "The practical benefit to society of such terrific speeds is negligible. The crowds show by their presence that they desire the races, long as they turn out, the death risks will go on. Other drivers will take the place of those who lose the one chance until the public awakens to the uselessness of speed as an end in itself and calls a halt."

Admiration for the spirit of this gallant sportsman is voiced by the WORCESTER EVENING GAZETTE, which calls him a "distinguished officer in the British Army during the World War" and "a conspicuous figure in the world of sport." That paper recalls that "King George conferred knighthood upon him for the Daytona Beach exploit," but that the major had announced that he was through with that form of racing, and commends his decision as "no less a credit to him than his success on the track." The Gazette continues, "The racing of speed boats offers some prospect of stimulating improvements in engineering and boat construction which can be commercially useful."

Calling him "the finest type of sportsman," daring and not afraid to take risks no other man dared, the MILWAUKEE JOURNAL attests that "he drove an automobile faster than anyone has ever gone, and he outdistanced all competitors on the way." But that paper concludes: "Our guess is that after all the real work, supposing man wants to go faster and faster, will have to be done in the experimental laboratory. The engineering and not the racer will do it. But out in front of the public the speed king plays his part in keeping up that popular interest without which it seems, not much progress is possible."

Viewing the Segrave record in a more favorable light, the HOUSTON CHRONICLE thinks that "others will take his place, of course, that there are many daring men willing to risk death in order to see if they can make the wheels turn still faster." The Chronicle pays the tribute to such pioneers: "High in the air, on the speedways of earth, in the water they work and slave industriously in the name of science. For after all, science is interested in seeing that the airplanes of the future fly faster and faster and farther than ever before, that the speed of the world is increased. For sometimes speed is highly important. It is, indeed, regrettable that men must perish as martyrs in the cause of science. But we do not realize they are glad to go through these adventurous ones. A Lindbergh took the long chance high above the blue Atlantic and lived, above the blue many long chances. A Segrave took sea and sky and died. We honor him not less for his achievement, his passing reminds us of 'Chinese' Gordon's famous dictum: 'England was not made by her statesmen, England was made by her adventurers.'"

It is pointed out by the NEW YORK TIMES that Major Segrave had learned so much of value to designers of motor cars and motor boats that his death will be regarded by them as an irreparable loss. The Times remarks that "others will no doubt be sought to fill his place, but it is a question whether such experiments with death hazards should be encouraged." The NEW ORLEANS TIMES-PICAYUNE feels, as to Segrave, that "it was scarcely to be hoped that one so hungry for danger could have continued much longer."

Patrol Will Confine "Coasting" On Hills To Sleds In Winter

HARRISBURG, June 25.—Captain Wilson C. Price of the State Highway Patrol has issued an order to attaches to his force, directing them to be on the alert for thoughtless motor car operators who coast on hills, then gears in "neutral."

"It is one of the most dangerous practices," said Captain Price. "A car coasting in neutral is absolutely out of control of the driver. Not only does the Motor Code forbid this practice specifically, but it also provides that at all times an operator must have his car under control. The man or woman who coasts in neutral, therefore, is violating two provisions of the Code."

"Since announcement was made several weeks ago that particular attention is being given to coasters, patrolmen have brought about the arrest of a large number of drivers of this class. It has been suggested to us that the State laws contain no mention of 'white lines,' and although that may be true it is the law that at all times, except when passing another vehicle a machine must stay to the right of the center of the highway. The law prohibits coasting on curves, and the State Highway Department has painted white lines on these particular road sections with the idea of warning reckless drivers of the presence of danger. For that reason we are justified when we bring charges of reckless driving against thoughtless men and women who pass other cars on road sections containing the white traffic dividing line."

"We are justified in bringing information against coasters-in-neutral. We are not so much concerned about their own safety, as about that of other road users or of the occupants of the careless operator's machine. Two arrests were made recently of drivers who went into neutral on the slope of Cove Mountain, seat of McConnellsburg, and coasted at breakneck speed through the town and some distance up the side of Scrub Ridge, west of McConnellsburg. These drivers had made a wager, each betting his car would travel farther than the other in neutral. I do not know which won, but his satisfaction was doubtless tempered with regret at the thought of the fine and costs he paid."

"The State Highway Patrol is on the highways to safeguard road users, and the force's activities are particularly directed against thoughtless drivers of the kind mentioned."

Yield Shows Value Of Pressure Spray

HARRISBURG, June 25.—Citrus pressure spray for insect pests is a vital factor in the production of acreage, R. Bruce Dunlap agriculturalist of the State Department of Welfare lists results of spraying done last year at varying pressure in a report to Mrs. E. S. H. McCauley, State Secretary of Welfare.

In 1929, the report says, nine institutions averaged 136 bushels of potatoes to the acre and the spraying was done at a pressure of 300 pounds or more. At six institutions the spraying was done at an average pressure of less than 300 and the yield per acre fell to 122 bushels.

Starlings Aid In Fight On Beetles

HARRISBURG, June 25.—Starlings, the bane of those responsible for the condition of public buildings, help to keep Japanese beetles under control during the season of their appearance according to reports to the Board of Game Commissioners. Residents of the Germantown section of Philadelphia report that starlings are active enemies of the beetles and that at homes where the birds are plentiful the lawns are most beautiful because of the insects which they destroy.

Buffalino Is Found Guilty Of Attack On Woman

Jury Deliberates But An Hour
Before Returning Verdict
Against Tramp

MERCER, Pa., June 25.—An hour's deliberation followed the giving of the case of Ralph Buffalino, charged with an attack on Mrs. Ruth Menold of Greenville, before they returned a verdict of guilty. Buffalino, who had told the court and jury that there must be some mistake as he was not the "wanted man", was led from the court room in an evident disgusted manner.

Following his trial in No. 1 room Judge J. A. McLaughry heard the action in which Joe Lukatach is charged with liquor law violations. He is from Farrell.

In No. 2 court room Judge R. L. Hildebrand heard the action in which Leonard Dagostino of Hallville, near Grove City, is charged with liquor law violations. Tony Baldowsky of Farrell was found not guilty but pay the costs on a liquor charge by jury trial.

PITTSBURGH VISITOR
W. V. Anderson, assistant cashier of the Farmers and Mechanics bank, was in Pittsburgh on Tuesday.

VISITS MERCER COURT
Ralph Campbell, for three decades the prothonotary of Lawrence county, visited at the county court all day Monday. The well known clerk attended the session with Judge R. L. Hildebrand of Lawrence county here assisting at the June term.

SUE FOR PREMIUMS
The Independent Indemnity company has sued Dean Hoelzie of Sharon for premiums on insurance alleged due them amounting to $121.03 with interest from October 5, 1929.

ANGLERS PREPARE
Sale of fishing licenses is especially active this week due to the opening of the game fish season in the state on July 1.

The larger percentage of anglers do not buy until the opening of this date which affords them the real sport of the season, they say.

TO SELL BOOTLEG CARS
Sheriff Dan Callahan has orders for the sale of five cars taken in transportation of liquor.

The cases are those that have been through the legal process of petitioning the court for the order of sale and the defendant given opportunity to make reply.

In each case Judge J. A. McLaughry has signed an order of sale. The sheriff will set a date soon for their disposal.

The collective value of the cars would be close to $3,000, it is said.

ANTICIPATE GOOD SEASON
Local anglers are expecting a good fishing season the coming summer, is the report of C. S. Hinkley, who heads the Mercer Rod and Gun club. Hinkley states that an inspection of the streams made personally and reported to him by other men would indicate a season of unusual sport. The 1929 season was very poor.

ASK EXTENSION
Viewers appointed by Judge J. A. McLaughry to survey the township line separating Millcreek and Sandy Lake townships to establish the ownership of a cemetery, report to the jurist that they have been unable to make this survey as yet and ask an extension of time.

They were appointed during the April term and were to make return at the June term. The case now goes over to fall.

The cemetery has been cared for at the expense of the township for some time. A dispute as to the boundary line makes it mandatory for the court to have a survey made.

Card of Thanks
We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy shown during the death of our beloved son, Jimmie also for the floral tributes and care donated.

Bar Association In Convention

Sessions Of State Bar Association Under Way At Bedford Springs

International News Service. BEDFORD SPRINGS, Pa., June 25.—With Bernard J. Meyers, of Lancaster, presiding, the thirty-sixth annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Bar Association was to open here today and continue through Friday.

The opening session today was to be featured by the president's annual address, to be delivered by Meyers. Presentation and consideration of reports by officers and committees also was slated for today and a tea and reception for the wives of jurists and attorneys was scheduled for this afternoon.

Pre-convention gossip was to the effect that one of the principal topics due for discussion at the convention was the part played by Political organizations in the appointment or election of judges.

It was rumored that resolutions advocating referendum of the Pennsylvania Bar Association for vacancies upon the supreme and superior court benches might be presented and pressed during the convention and it was understood that some members of the association were ready to urge such elections be held in Partisan primaries and general elections.

Philadelphia delegates to the convention were expected to assume the place of standard-bearers in the discussion on so-called "domination" of judiciary selections by political parties. Only a few weeks ago, the Philadelphia Law Association went on record as being militantly opposed to such "domination."

Origination of the "bar primary" proposition occurred in the Allegheny County courts in 1897 and, though abandoned for a time, has been pressed almost continuously by the Pittsburgh Bar for the last three years.

Yachts Cost Detroit Men Seven Million

International News Service. DETROIT, Mich., June 25.—Detroiters are taking to the sea and it is costing 11 of them a round $7,000,000.

Apparently victims of a "Yacht craze," 11 wealthy men here have some of the finest yachts in the world being commissioned or under construction this year.

The "very latest thing" in yachts is the $1,500,000 Nakhoda, which was built for Frederick J. Fisher, the eldest of the seven Fisher brothers of "Buddy" Fisher fame.

It is 236 feet long and has luxuriously appointed suits and rooms a large saloon, and, incidentally, modernistically designed baths.

The Nakhoda is almost identically the same type as the pleasure boat which Alfred J. Sloan, Jr., recently put into commission. Sloan's Rene also cost in the neighborhood of $1,500,000.

Walter O. Briggs is paying $1,000,000 for a yacht which is now under construction.

Other yachts which were recently launched include the Olive K. of C. F. Kettering, cost $300,000.

Seven other boats which are now being built brings Detroit's total for yachts up to the $7,000,000 mark.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

What a certain Texas lady thinks about husbands in general and writes in angry scrawl to tell me, is something to make the men sit up and take notice even if they neglect to take their pens in hand. But I hope some of them will defend themselves.

The lady is very honest, and very much in earnest, but I am inclined to think that the trouble with her is that she has "met up with" the wrong kind of husbands. I'm quite sure many of us are glad to help a too busy wife.

I know how hard life is for some poor wives who have a house to keep and children to care for. I know her day is never done. It is too bad that most men are not gifted with the ability to help around the house and the children, but you know they aren't—somehow. I think many of them who are ever so willing, are not only worthless, they are very much in the way when they attempt to help.

But her letter:

"The men have always wanted the cream for themselves and thought they were superior to their wives. When the Good Book was written when it came to the verse that said 'Wives obey your husbands,' every man stood straight up and stuck his thumbs in his suspenders. They've been taller ever since—that is those of them that had pride enough to wear suspenders. They all took a vow, to 'Lord it over' the weaker sex, and they kept their word."

"I was a nurse for eight years before I married. In most homes where I worked the men take their hats and hang them up, salute them and draw up the best rocker, hand them the paper, while the children ran to get papa's pipe and tobacco. One of the children was expected to bring the house slippers while wife slipped away to prepare dinner with from only six children hanging to her skirts."

"Then all the tastiest dishes are pushed toward him first. The wife then gets the children waited upon."

"Dozens of sick peasants, disappointed by regular medical treatments, paid the price and obtained a horoscope and the tea which in fact was made out of dried grass and leaves, until the authorities had the scientists arrested and brought before the court."

There they tried to explain their "science" was based on their discovery of a hitherto unknown nerve center which they called "nervus astraphicus," and which is supposed to transform subconscious physical reactions.

"Astrophysics," they said, was based on Sanskrit and the Old Testament, and represented "the philosophy of the future," consisting of the following main principles:

"The earth is not magnetic, because if it were, it would fall into the sun, and living things would not grow out of it, but would be drawn into it. There is no such physical law as gravitation; pressure is the reason why things fall to the ground. The temperature of the patient is determined by the horoscope, and the treatment is based on pressure in the form of heat."

Special guests included Ralph M. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Thomas, Will Pettitt, Mrs. Lulu McDonald and Mrs. Shaffer.

Miss Anna Patterson was chairman of the program committee and presented Mrs. Pearl Cook with an interesting talk on "What the D. U. V. Mrs. Jessie Crooks, senior vice president of the department, was presented with a lovely silk umbrella by the lodge, in appreciation of the work she has done.

Closing the evening Mrs. Emma McKissick and her committee served refreshments.

It rained for 19 straight days in Death Valley. This is regarded as an extraordinary occurrence, since the district is not favored as a picnic ground.—The Detroit News.

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

GETTING CLOSE TO LIFE

A university professor—Milton George Gell of Northwestern—has been investigating school boys and girls to find out how much they know about the Bible and how much of it they really understand. More than half of the 20,000 pupils studied showed they didn't understand what it was all about. Most of us remember the Sunday school lessons of old. There is some change and some improvement today, but not enough. The lessons still taught in thousands of Sunday schools each week have little to do with contact between modern people and contact with modern life. What young folk need is some help and guidance in the peculiar problems which they face. Why not a Sunday school that gives that sort of guidance? Why not Sunday school teachers who face life as it is and do their best to show youngsters the better road?

ONE MAN'S LIFE

When distinguished men and women of one of the largest cities in the country gather for the sole purpose of expressing their appreciation and gratitude for the service of one man, it must mean that the man honored has achieved high place. And when we learn that the man singled out for praise is not a prosperous and successful business man, as the world defines success, we begin to rearrange our values and wonder what success is. The other night in Chicago some of the most eminent citizens gathered to tell Graham Taylor what he was and what he had done. Thirty-six years ago Graham Taylor left the campus of a Chicago school, of which he is still a faculty member, to make his permanent home in an immigrant neighborhood. He established a social settlement house. More than that, he began to touch thousands of lives. He has given his life to pointing the better way to multitudes. We hear that life is short, but if life goes just average length, what a tremendous swath a man can cut in it if only he is more interested in doing something for others than he is in "putting himself across!"

PEA SHOOTERS

Clergymen, editing one day's editions of a southern newspaper, made but one change. They threw out an article telling folk how to improve their bridge game. Not to discuss the merits of bridge as recreation or mental exercise, the action indicates the reaction and procedure of most of us when confronted with problems and opportunities. In a world of baffling, vital, unsolved problems, we decide that it may be morally deteriorating to play bridge or print articles about it.

To Expedite Approval Of Paving Work

City and State To Approve Contracts As Speedily As Possible.

City Council and the state highway department must approve the contracts and order their execution by the proper officials before Woods, & Golder can start repaving of Butler Avenue, Grant street and Croton avenue. It was learned today in city hall.

According to Mayor Gillespie the contract will be brought to the attention of councilmen at Friday's session at which time it is anticipated that it will be approved and execution ordered. City Engineer Frank Miller added that "the state highway department also must approve the contract."

The city is anxious to have the repaving start as soon as possible and Solicitor Robert M. White has requested state highway department officials to expedite their approval as much as possible as it is obvious that nothing except approval now stands in the way of the actual work.

More Traffic On Ellwood Road Now

Motorists Are Relieved To Travel On Magnificent New Bridge Near Cascade Park

Traffic on the New Castle-Ellwood road has been noticeably increased since the new bridge has been thrown open to motorists. During the past year, while the detour was being used and the new bridge was being constructed the New Castle-Ellwood road was used chiefly by motorists who by necessity traveled back and forth. No one cared to drive on the highway for a pleasure trip because of the detour and the turn up roadways by workmen for the A. T. and T. company, engaged in laying an underground conduit. That work is progressing rapidly, and although it is not yet near completion, it furnishes no tedious delays to traffic.

The new bridge takes a prominent place among the many improvements to Lawrence county roadways.

Wool Pooling Slow Tuesday

Many Sheep Raisers Fail To Pool Wool On Tuesday Due To Rain

Tuesday, the second day of the pooling of wool by sheep raisers of Lawrence county under the auspices of the Lawrence County Cooperative Wool Growers association proved a slow one. Rain is believed to have halted many farmers from bringing their wool to be pooled at the old warehouse on Moravia street.

As it is vitally important that wool be dry before being pooled, the sheep raisers rather than take a chance of having the wool affected by rain did not take their wool to be pooled. The officials in charge of the pooling of wool looked forward to a busy day today.

Wool from the following sections will be received today: Union, Little Beaver, Mahoning and Big Beaver townships and Beaver county.

Hunt Descendants Of John Mitchell

Local Attorney Asked To Look Up Records Of New Castle Soldier Of 1812

Efforts are being made here to locate any descendants of John Mitchell, who served in the war of 1812. A letter was received by Attorney Roy Mercer today from a Mrs. Silas Gault of Erie in which he is asked to search for records of his enlistment, or ascertain if he has any descendants here.

Mitchell, according to the letter, enlisted three times. As New Castle is in Mercer county at that time it is in Mercer county. There is none at the court house here. Mr. Mercer expects to look over the Mercer county records. In 1854, it is stated in the letter that Mitchell was living in Hockstetter, Beaver county, but later moved to Booneville, Mo., where he died.

AUSTRALIANS IN PLANE LAND IN NEWFOUNDLAND

the bleak rockbound coast of Newfoundland as she came in from the sea, had passed over Cape Race in the early hours of the morning.

John W. Stannage, radio operator of the Southern Cross, had been at the key constantly giving the world a running account of the flight.

As the Southern Cross neared the island, coastal stations and ships did their utmost to give her radio compass bearings so that Kingsford-Smith flying blind through the fog, could shape a correct course.

The radio compass failed to function properly. Kingsford-Smith said it caused enormous delay.

After passing over Newfoundland, the Australian commander of the flight, said that his fuel was low.

Reluctantly, though they were dead tired, the crew agreed it would be best to turn back and the big plane which has conquered air trails of the Pacific and North Atlantic oceans was headed for Harbor Grace.

Major Kingsford-Smith sent a message ahead on the radio set. The signals were becoming fainter as the batteries grew weak.

He asked that 500 gallons of gas and oil be ready for him at the harbor Grace airport.

Arriving over Harbor Grace, the Southern Cross circled at reduced speed waiting for the ground mists to clear so that the airport would be visible for a landing.

Crowds gathered at the airport early ready to offer the generous kind hospitality for which the bleak little isle is noted.

Expected in New York. NEW YORK, June 25.—Major Charles Kingsford-Smith, daring Australian aviator who today completed a successful east to west crossing of the Atlantic with three companions in the monoplane Southern Cross, is expected here sometime this evening to receive the homage due a hero.

Forced down at Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, at 6:53 a. m., Eastern Daylight Saving Time because of gasoline shortage, the Southern Cross was expected to take off shortly for New York, according to word received here.

Full preparations have been made both at Roosevelt and Curtiss fields on Long Island to receive the four gallant airmen at the conclusion of the interrupted flight from Port Marnock, Ireland, to New York.

J. N. Kelly, director of flying operations at Roosevelt field, told International News Service he understood that the veteran monoplane would be refueled as speedily as possible and the flight continued.

31 Hour Flight. The flight of the Southern Cross, which covered approximately 2,300 miles, was accomplished in thirty-one hours and twenty-eight minutes. Severe head-winds during a large portion of the flight, coupled with dense fog over the Grand Banks which caused the airmen to "fly blind" for hours without being able to get their bearings, diminished the fuel supply to an unexpected extent.

Major Kingsford-Smith had estimated his plane could remain in the air for thirty-eight hours, and had hoped to reach New York within thirty-four, while he was balking in his intention, the perfect landing made at Harbor Grace won for the Australian ace the distinction of making the most successful east to west crossing of the Atlantic yet achieved.

The only flight comparable to that of the Southern Cross was that of the German monoplane Bremen, in which Major James Fitzmaurice, of the Irish Free State air force, Baron Guenther Von Huenfeld and Captain Herman Koehl flew from Baldonnel Aerodrome, Ireland, to Greencree Island, Labrador. The German airmen, however, came down hundreds of miles from civilization, and had to be succored by rescue planes, while Major Kingsford-Smith's superb navigating brought his flight to a successful conclusion at a well-populated, busy airport.

Prep. For Reception. New York authorities launched arrangements for Major Kingsford-Smith's reception while the city still was paying homage to another travel-scarred veteran of the skies—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd. Flying field authorities placed planes at the disposal of Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador to Washington, and other high officials in order to enable them to be on hand when the four fliers of the Southern Cross arrive here.

Officials of Roosevelt and Curtiss fields were competing for the honor of receiving the Southern Cross. Kelly said arrangements had been made for the arrival at his field, while Curtiss airport officials were equally certain the Southern Cross would end its trans-ocean flight at the Valley Stream airport.

Dr. James E. Kimball, meteorological expert of the United States weather bureau here, who was most pessimistic over the outcome of the flight because of poor weather conditions, was eloquent in his praise of Kingsford-Smith's achievement.

"The flight was well prepared and beautifully executed," Kimball said. "The trip showed the obstacles that still lie in the way of trans-Atlantic airplane service, particularly in the matter of head-winds and blinding fog, but because of these handicaps the flight was all the more a tremendous achievement."

"Until we hear Kingsford-Smith's report, we cannot tell what this flight has taught us of Atlantic atmospheric conditions, and whether it has added anything to our previous knowledge."

Anthony H. G. Fokker, who designed and built the Southern Cross, sent a telegram of hearty congratulation to Kingsford-Smith and his aides at Harbor Grace, in which he commended the "wise command of the sturdy old ship" which "resulted in the first westward crossing of the Atlantic to an American airport."

Want To Rest. The gallant crew of the gallant ship came in for even more attention, although all realized that the airmen were very tired and in the main the birdmen's wish to be left alone to gain as much rest as possible during the stay here, was respected.

Major Kingsford-Smith and his men looked tired, but otherwise in the best of health. All were deaf from the 31 hours' steady roar of their three heavy motors. Questions to them had either to be written or shouted at the top of the questioner's lungs.

"We had fairly good weather on the flight until we reached Cape Race," Kingsford-Smith said, following his landing here. "We encountered dense fog off Cape Race, and had to circle around until daylight. We then decided to land at Harbor Grace, as our fuel was running short."

Radio Saved Lives. "The radio" saved our lives. We would have been helpless without that communication, for we had been flying blind for several hours after our compass went bad."

Harbor Grace, which had been on edge for hours, straining for the first sound of the trans-Atlantic plane's passing, heard the humming of the Southern Cross motors over the town at 7 a. m. local time (9:30 a. m., Eastern Daylight Time). The humming soon died away, but later returned in strength as the fliers circled the landing field, preparing to come down. The big ship made a perfect landing at 8:26 a. m. local time.

After receiving the greetings and congratulations of officials of the town, and making arrangements for supplies of fuel and oil, the fliers repaired to the local hotel for their first real meal since leaving Ireland.

No Plane Damage. A rapid but as thorough examination as was possible under the circumstances revealed that the Southern Cross had suffered no damage from her long battle with the elements on her westward flight. A check of the fuel tanks revealed there was gasoline for only four hours' flight when Kingsford-Smith brought the ship down to ground.

The check over also revealed that the plane's compass, which went entirely bad about 500 miles off the coast last night, can be repaired to-day in time for the hop to tomorrow.

Friday Night's Time! Hospital Fund Benefit Out At Taggart Field

In making your plans for the week, mark off Friday night, June 27th, for the baseball game to be played on Taggart Field for the benefit of the Jameson Memorial hospital. With the present weather prevailing, the evening should be ideal for the game and if the ideas of the ticket sellers materialize, there will be a real crowd.

Some time ago the idea was projected that a baseball game at night would be a good thing as a vehicle of money raising and provide the fans with some athletics by electric lights. Later a boy scout demonstration was added, a tumbling exhibition was added, and then the Senior High School band volunteered to be on hand and entertain the crowd. As a result,

there is promised for Friday evening a real time.

Hans Wagner, the "Flying Dutchman" who will always be a shining star in the baseball firmament will be here and play first base for one of the teams, and Hub Hart another old timer will be on the other team. The lineup of the teams has not been announced but will be later.

In order to keep the fans acquainted with what is going on all the time, an announcer system will be installed and no one but will know just what is being done and why.

The tickets have been priced at a quarter each which is certainly fair enough. If you haven't got yours yet, there is still time.

Prayer In Congress

The House met at 12 o'clock noon. The Chaplain, Rev. James Shera Montgomery, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Most gracious Lord, in the quiet of this noonday moment, with its ministries of help and light, may we receive wise incentive for the labors before us. Whatever our tasks may be, may we feel that they are Thine, and with Thy direction may we move forth with trust and dignity. During the days of our lives we would walk with Thee and with our fellow men in a life of loving service. At the eventide today may it be our highest joy to find ourselves at the hearths of happy firesides. In the name of Jesus, the lover of men. Amen.

Reports Progress In State Survey Of All Apiaries

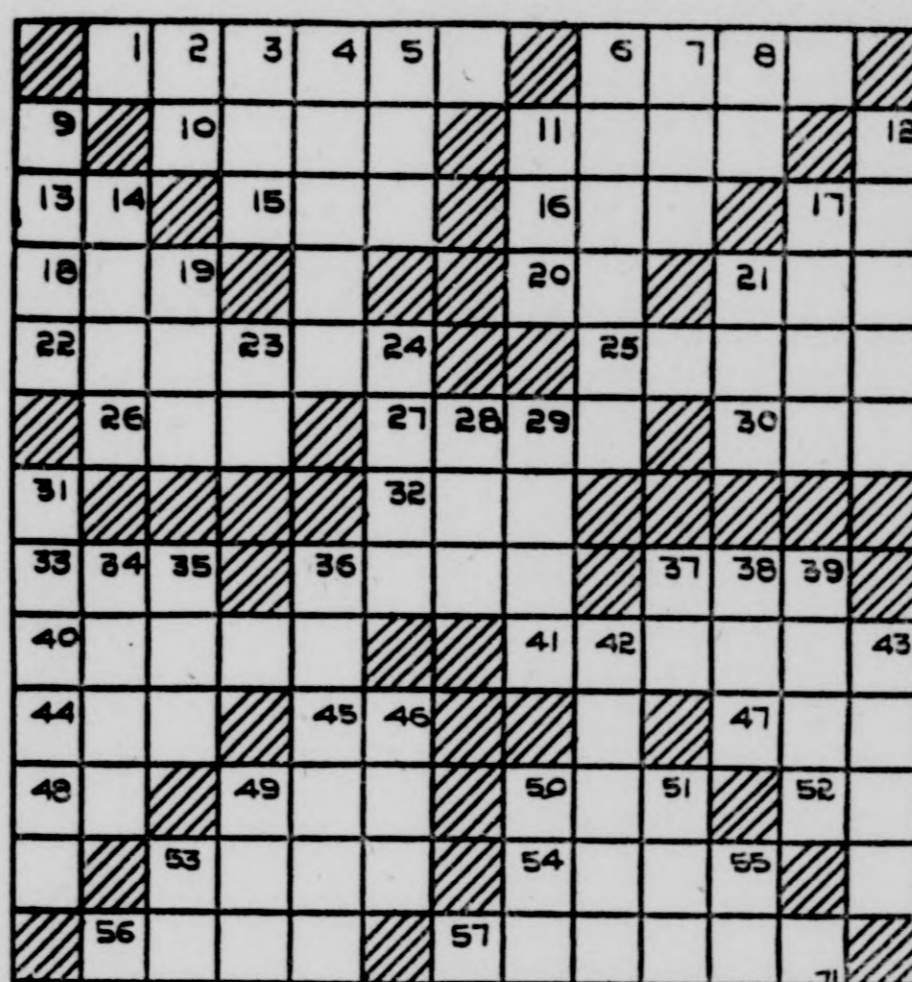

HARRISBURG, June 25.—Aided by the favorable weather, the apiary inspection program of the bureau of plant industry, Pennsylvania department of agriculture, is progressing rapidly, according to H. B. Kirk, chief apiary inspector.

Thirteen representatives of the bureau are now in the field and during the next few weeks will be visiting beekeepers in Adams, Carbon, Chester, Clarion, Crawford, Cumberland, Lehigh and Pike counties. The work of these men is authorized by the state bee law, effective since July 1, 1923, and enacted at the request of the beekeepers of the commonwealth. This law specifically requires that bees be housed in modern movable frame hives which permit free inspection of each comb to determine the presence of serious bee diseases. The box hives so common in the past is declared by the law to be a public nuisance and a menace to the community.

Beekeepers in general are showing a most favorable attitude toward the inspection work, Mr. Kirk reports. It has been necessary, however, to make a number of prosecutions where the law continued to be disregarded after repeated requests for cooperation.

In order to effectively eliminate bee diseases, the department workers are advising the burning of all combs in colonies affected by disease.

Peter's Adventures

THE DIVER'S HELMET

Odd the creature certainly was that now came wriggling toward Brown Beetle and the boy. And the strange thing the fellow wore on his head certainly looked like a diver's helmet. Peter laughed—he just could not help it.

"If that's a pupa, then a pupa is not even as good looking as a larva. Tell me, Brown Beetle, is that a diver's helmet?"

Brown Beetle looked at the boy in perfect amazement.

"I haven't the least idea what you are talking about!" remarked he, then took back his words. "Or maybe I do after all. Is a diver's helmet what a human wears when he lives under water?" Peter nodded.

"Right!" said he. "You're nobody's fool Brown Beetle. Don't get the wrong idea though. Plenty of us humans give with nothing on our heads but our hair. But if there should be anything at the bottom of the sea that we want, then one among us would put a helmet on his head before he dove down to get it."

"Why?" asked Brown Beetle, curiously. "What good would a helmet do him?"

"Plenty," replied Peter, chuckling. You see, Brown Beetle, we humans cannot breathe under water, like you creatures of the pool can. And a helmet has long tubes through which air can be pumped. When a man has fresh air to breathe he can stay under the water almost as long as you can."

"With a thing like that on his head to weigh him down, how could a human rise to the surface of the water?" demanded Brown Beetle. Peter looked approvingly at his companion.

"You've an idea or two in your head, fellow," said he.

Petitions Filed Insuring Pinchot Of Name On Ballot

Pre-empting Petitions Presented To Allegheny County Court Today.

MADE NECESSARY BY BALLOT ROW

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, June 25.—Petitions pre-empting the name, "Independent Party," for the benefit of Gifford Pinchot, apparent winner of the Republican gubernatorial nomination in the May primaries, were filed in Allegheny county court here today. Similar petitions were understood to have been filed this morning with the Dauphin county court in Harrisburg. The Allegheny county petition was filed by Attorney Ralph Frank with Prothonotary John Vogt while James A. Fox, chairman of the legislative committee of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, is understood to have presented the Dauphin county petition to the prothonotary in Harrisburg.

Precautionary Measure. Filing of the petitions comes as a precautionary measure on the part of Pinchot adherents to insure the appearance of Pinchot's name on the November ballots in the event that the supreme court should decide perforation of ballots cast in Luzerne county rendered those ballots void.

Such a decision would give Francis Shunk Brown, Pinchot's primary opponent, the Republican gubernatorial nomination since Pinchot's Luzerne county plurality was more than 26,000 votes and his state-wide plurality about 12,000.

Officers included in the petition filed by Attorney Frank for the Allegheny county elections are: Judges of common pleas court, judges of county court, county commissioners, district attorney, prothonotary, recorder of deeds, clerk of courts, county comptroller, county treasurer, register of wills and directors of the poor.

Home Of Miner Is Damaged By Blast

Believe Dynamite Blast Used To Scare Father And Son Into Joining Strike

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 25.—The home of Charles Girattano, a miner, was dynamited here today, apparently as a warning to him and his son, who had reported to work after the strike of Pittston Coal Company employees was ordered by the general grievance committee.

Police said they believed but one stick of dynamite was used. A hole approximately 12 inches in diameter was blown in the wall of the house and windows were shattered but the explosion was not of sufficient force to affect neighboring houses. Mr. and Mrs. Girattano and their children, asleep in the house at the time, escaped injury.

The dynamiting is the first violence in the strike, which started last Saturday after the general grievance committee decided the company, employing 15,000 miners, was not equalizing the work at its various collieries. Conflicting reports from the miners and the company continue to complicate the discovery of the true status of the strike and side contends it is gaining its point.

A man loses his collar button, misses his train and his whole life course is changed. Napoleon, reclining in his bathtub agrees off-hand to the sale of the Louisiana territory.

Gandhi in passing revolt against British rule in India is responsible for halting a war against squirrels in Kern county.

Louis Burch, Kern county horticultural commissioner, recently said that the proposed attack on squirrels which are eating farm crops here has been delayed through lack of "ammunition."

Squirrels are poisoned, for the most part, with strychnine. Strychnine is made from nuxvomica, and nuxvomica is obtained in India.

Since Gandhi started his revolt, cargo ships are giving India a wide berth and the price of strychnine is soaring. Then, too, congress has imposed a high duty on the drug, all of which has a direct effect on the rodent control campaign for this county, Burch said.

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS Editor, The Farm Journal Written for Central Press

The passage of the new tariff bill after nearly two years of agitation and debate did not immediately stop the disputes over its provisions, but they may be expected to die down soon now.

The political campaigns this autumn will very likely develop a new crop of tariff speeches. But the average citizen is weary of the subject and I question whether there will be any great response to the appeals of the politicians.

Farm opinion on the subject is divided, as usual, but the reaction of the rank and file farmer is probably not very different from that of the man in the cities.

Farmers feel that they have little influence with congress when important legislation like this is being written and the failure of the export debenture plan to stick in the new bill has offended the active supporters of the measure. I see no signs, however, of anything like a general protest of farm interests on this account.

All hands agree that a genuine effort was made to give agriculture protection on a large number of imported products that compete with our own fields and orchards. Whether effective or not, the duties on such things as vegetables, eggs, hides and milk, and the increase on sugar, are regarded as steps in the right direction.

Extremists are dissatisfied. Their aim was a scale of tariff duties high enough to operate as an embargo, and to include such large items as raw silk and bananas—things not produced in our country, but which compete with our cotton, wool and rayon, our apples, peaches and oranges.

Congress fell far short of this extreme application of protective ideas, of course. As compared with them, the tariff increases are for the most part moderate.

Still another section of farm opinion concentrates its attention on the industrial tariff rates, and argues that the farm increases may or may not be of value to farms, but the increases on manufactured goods are certain to cause higher prices and thus be damaging.

As distinct from all these enthusiasts, the rank and file farmer is, I believe, perfectly content to wait and see how the new tariff policy works out.

Tanks Prove A-1 House Wreckers

(International News Service) FORT LEWIS, June 24.—The work of demolishing wartime barracks and other ancient structures hastily erected during the war may be speeded up in a most impressive manner as the result of a house-wrecking demonstration staged here by army tanks.

Four of the iron behemoths lined up before the doomed structure. At a signal, they all charged on one side, crushed through and, kept on going until the other side had been taken out.

Then, wheeling in their tracks, the tanks bore down on the front of the building and completed the wrecking job.

Voting Decision Is Handed Down

Judge James H. Gray, In Pittsburgh Court, Hands Down Important Ruling Today.

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, June 25.—Thousands of persons on the voting lists in Allegheny county face the possibility of losing their franchise as the result of a decision handed down by Judge James H. Gray in common pleas court today.

Ruling the tax receipt of Israel Rubinowitz null and void because Rubinowitz had not paid his taxes himself and had not authorized their payment Judge Gray ordered the board of registration commissioners to strike off his name from the list of qualified voters.

"The tax receipt beyond all doubt was illegally procured and utterly void in his hands," Judge Gray said. "He is not entitled to vote."

The tax receipt of Rubinowitz, who had registered in the spring primary this year, was dated August 20, 1929. His case was brought before Judge Gray by Lawrence D. Blair, chairman of the committee on elections of the Allegheny County Bar association, on an appeal from a decision of the registration commissioners.

In handing down his decision today, Judge Gray rapped the board of registration commissioners for not striking Rubinowitz's name from the voting list when the matter first was contested. As regards the tax receipt, the opinion declared:

"It was established to be a forgery as clearly as it is possible to establish any fact."

Possible far reaching effects of this decision were seen by local political observers who pointed out that it would go far to put an end to the practice, common here before registration days, of thousands of tax receipts being distributed by ward politicians to those of "the faithful" who had not paid their taxes.

Mellon Denies Bond Charges

Says Sale Of German Reparation Bonds Will Not Affect War Debts.

DENIES U. S. BEING DRAWN INTO LEAGUE

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, June 25.—Secretary of the treasury Mellon today denied that sale of German reparations bonds in the United States results in an intermingling of reparations with war debts through which allied nations could seek cancellation of their debts to this country.

He made his statement to the house banking committee in testimony on the resolution of Rep. McFadden (R) of Pennsylvania, committee chairman, prohibiting national and state federal reserve member banks from buying the bonds.

McFadden has charged the $300,000,000 reparation bonds authorized for sale, the world bank and Young plan all are contrived to draw the United States into the League of Nations and pave the way for cancellation of allied war debts.

Mellon declared that the McFadden resolution was meaningless because Federal Reserve Banks now have no authority to purchase bonds of this character.

He added that he knows of no provisions for annual sale of German reparations bonds in this country. With approximately $100,000,000 of the first $300,000,000 issue or reparation bonds offered for sale here, McFadden has charged that ultimately a considerable part of more than three billion of these bonds would be sold in the American market.

A tentative program for divisional and regional baseball, track and trap shooting eliminations for the Pennsylvania railroad were drafted when members of the central region's athletic committee met at Pittsburgh, Tuesday. L. C. Gleason, safety agent here, in whose charge athletic activities have also been placed, represented the E. and A.

Regional finals, according to plans formulated yesterday will be run off in Pitt Stadium the latter part of September. Trap shooting eliminations for E. and A. gunners will take place at Erie on a date to be designated later.

Sheet And Tube Merger Trial Is Commenced Today

(International News Service) YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 25.—Trial of Ohio's "billion-dollar lawsuit," which was brought to prevent the merger of Youngstown Sheet & Tube company with Bethlehem Steel Corporation, opened in the Mahoning county common pleas court here today before Judge David G. Jenkins. Captains of the steel industry with more than a score of the nation's most prominent corporation attorneys were seated around the trial table this morning as the suit was laid before Judge Jenkins for hearing.

The trial, which is expected to last at least a week, concerns an injunction which is sought by Myron C. Wick, Jr., and international shares corporation against the combine.

Forces opposing the merger seek to show that Bethlehem funds were used in the purchase of sheet and tube stock to put the merger vote through at the now-famous stockholders' meeting last April. With proof of this the anti-mergerists hope to establish a point of violation of the Clayton and Sherman anti-trust laws.

Expect State To Qualify For Aid In Health Census

HARRISBURG, June 25.—The efforts of the State Department of Health will probably qualify Pennsylvania for entrance into the United States registration area for morbidity. Dr. Theodore B. Appel, Secretary of Health, said today. "The completeness of communicable disease reporting was to be estimated by a census of at least 10 per cent of the State's population, and following this out the Department's trained investigators visited 27,746 households, representing 126,975 persons. Every county in the State was covered to determine whether any of the diseases specified by the census were present." Whether a decrease in population is a black eye for your town depends a lot on the kind of people who have been leaving it.—The Little Rock Arkansas Democrat.

What Primary Votes Cost State Candidates

From News Bureau, State Capital
HARRISBURG, June 25.—With the filing of the expense accounts of the last election at the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth persons with a fair for statistics have been busy making unofficial tabulations on the unit cost of votes. These figures show some interesting comparisons with the ten cents a vote limit suggested some time ago by the Pennsylvania Election Association.

A total of the various expense accounts spent in behalf of Republican groups and individuals shows expenditures of $1,470,000 at the last primary. Without including the vote from Luzerne county which has not yet been certified to the election bureau the three leading contenders for the Republican gubernatorial nomination received a total of 1,464,339 votes. When the Luzerne vote is recorded the average cost per vote will be something less than ten cents apiece.

The expense accounts show there was spent for the Brown-Davis ticket and local candidates who attached themselves to the State-wide group a total of $563,143. Without the Luzerne vote included Brown received 597,104 votes or an outlay of ninety-seven cents apiece. The Philadelphia candidates personal expenditure was very small.

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis running with Francis Shunk Brown has a total of 708,535 votes. The average cost per vote for him was seventy-nine cents and his personal outlay was low. The chief opponent of Davis, Senator Joseph H. Grundy was credited with 465,249 votes and the total cost of his campaign was $555,673 or an average of $1.19 a vote. Each Grundy vote cost him personally eighty cents for his contribution to the campaign was $382,000.

Former Governor Pinchot received 590,644 votes and the campaign cost him and his friends $149,263. That was an average of twenty-five cents and the candidate's personal outlay was about seventeen cents per vote. The wet ticket reported expenditures of $203,716 by its State committee and friends. Former Congressman, Phillips the gubernatorial candidate got 276,791 votes or an average cost of seventy-three cents. His running mate Dr. Francis H. Bohlen for the senate, was the recipient of 243,623 votes which cost on an average of eighty-three cents.

Reviews Effort Made To Replant Forest Barrens

State Nurseries Have Furnished More Than 120,000,000 Seedlings

HARRISBURG, June 25.—More than 130,000,000 forest trees from the nurseries of the Department of Forests and Waters have been planted in Pennsylvania since 1899, when the first trees were set out on State-owned forest lands in Pike county. "It is interesting to note," Charles R. Meek, chief of the bureau of forest extension, said today, "that this number of trees would be more than sufficient to provide one tree for every citizen of the United States or thirteen trees for every man, woman and child in the Keystone State." Since the distribution of trees for reforestation of private lands was begun by the Department in 1910, a total of 82,729,991 trees have been distributed to private planters in Pennsylvania. More than thirty-eight and three-quarter million trees have been planted on the State-owned forests during the last quarter century. The State Forests are located in thirty counties of the Commonwealth.

Figures just completed on private tree planting during the spring planting season of 1930, show that 8,756,941 trees were received by 1762 land owners in every county of the Commonwealth. There were 32,412 trees distributed among ten planters in Lawrence county; 12,500 by 9 planters in Beaver county and 24,204 by 14 planters in Mercer county.

Ready-Made Home Satisfies Beaver

HARRISBURG, June 25.—Frank P. Plessinger, a surveyor for the game commission, has reported a colony of beavers in Wyoming county which apparently found a ready made home and dam for their use.

The new colony was found in Stony Brook using a flat rock about 20 feet in diameter as a shelter. The rock is tilted against the bank, providing the under water entrance which the beavers demand.

The depth of water at the place made a dam unnecessary. The beaver colony is subsisting on the aspen growing nearby.

Farm Real Estate Value Decreases; Few Sales Made

HARRISBURG, June 25.—Farm real estate in Pennsylvania has suffered a general decline in value during the past year, according to reports from farmers and realtors in agricultural districts.

The Federal-State Crop Reporting Service finds that the downward trend is statewide excepting in a few localities adjacent to expanding industrial centers. The average value of land with improvements is estimated at $70 per acre compared with $76 a year ago, and all plow land $55 compared with $59.

Very little activity in buying is reported even in localities where values are holding steady, although requests from prospective purchasers are numerous. Small farms for trucking, dairying, poultry raising, well-located on improved highways, are said to be in greatest demand. Large farms must be stocked and equipped to receive consideration.

One of the very interesting developments discovered is the fact that availability of electricity is becoming an important item in the eyes of prospective purchasers. The supply of farms promises to exceed the potential demand until, at least, the mortgage money market eases considerably, reports state.

Game Law Drive Nets 6210 Arrests

HARRISBURG, June 25.—Officers of the game commission during the fiscal year ending on June 1 brought 6210 prosecutions for violations of the game laws. During the previous fiscal year prosecutions were brought in 4862 cases.

Prosecutions during the last current period included 892 illegal deer cases, 1046 for killing game in the closed season, 579 for dogs chasing game, 247 in violation of the alien dog law, 470 for illegal fishing and 2410 for miscellaneous infractions.

Live Wire Activities Among The Granges

Hot Weather Has No Power To Reduce Activities Of Big Farm Group

A small circle of women workers in one Massachusetts Grange has raised within recent times over $1500 by their own efforts, and entirely apart from other Grange resources, which has been expended in hall improvements, working equipment and various community projects.

Perhaps the oldest initiate to any fraternal organization in the country this year has been discovered in New Hampshire—a man in his 91st year has just joined the Grange, the first secret society with which he has ever been affiliated.

Large numbers of Grange people in Connecticut turned out to hear a snappy debate on "Resolved, that the present system of taxation is right," in which the farmer's side of the case was impressively stated.

At a recent Grange meeting in New York State three generations of members were present and all had a part in the evening's program—a mother, her daughter and her grandson.

In several instances Granges in different states have tendered receptions to "gold star" mothers, about to sail for France, such occasions taking on an intense patriotic fervor, with usually the whole community invited to the Grange hall for that evening.

At the big National Grange session at Rochester, New York, next November one of the speakers is to be Gov. Frank J. Roosevelt, who is himself a member of the Grange in that state.

While most State Granges hold their annual convention in the winter time three of them always take place in June—Washington, Oregon and South Dakota.

Large numbers of New England Granges are staging pageants and similar events to assist in a fitting observance of Tercentenary Year.

With a record of having assisted almost 500 young people in gaining an education, the State Grange Educational Aid Fund in Massachusetts must be ranked as one of the outstanding achievements of that rural organization.

Granges in Washington, Oregon and Idaho are cooperating with the Y. M. C. A. in aiding country boys to make wise contacts when they go to the large cities to seek employment.

The subject of rural health is getting wide discussion throughout the Granges of the United States, followed by needed local clean-up projects.

Mother's Day was observed with appropriate programs in hundreds of subordinate Granges, and even Father's Day was noted in not a few instances!

Busy Bees Help Add $426,730 To Income On Farms

HARRISBURG, June 25.—Almost 2,000,000 pounds of honey, valued at $426,730, were produced in Pennsylvania last year, according to estimates of the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service. Pennsylvania is now one of the 10 states which produce on the average over $425,000 worth of honey annually.

The extent of beekeeping in the Commonwealth has fluctuated considerably during the past 80 years, statistical records indicate. The trend was upward from 1850 to 1900—the period of maximum expansion of the industry. At that time more than 2,500,000 pounds of honey were being produced each year. Between 1900 and 1920, production decreased but during the past 10 years the trend has been slightly upward. An interesting fact relating to the industry is the noticeable reduction in the beeswax crop, the amount produced in 1920 being only one-third the 1900 total, officials said.

Bradford county took the lead in beekeeping more than 40 years ago and has remained in that position ever since. At the present time seven per cent of the total Pennsylvania crop is produced in this one county.

FARM CALENDAR

Timely Reminders From The Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

Rapid Pork Gains Best—Smaller amounts of feed are required for a pound of grain when pigs grow rapidly than when development is slower. Putting pigs on full feed early is a profitable practice.
Kill Bean Beetle—Magnesium arsenate is considered the best control spray for the Mexican bean beetle. If it cannot be obtained, calcium arsenate may be used successfully.

Water New Plantings—Trees and shrubs that have been planted since the first of the year must be given plenty of water to encourage the formation of new roots and development of the tops.

Eradicate Burdocks—Any time is a good time to kill burdocks. Cut them below the crown with a sharp spade. This will prevent future sprouts coming from the same root.

Control Potato Diseases—Spraying of potato vines is an absolutely essential process in successful potato culture. Bordeaux mixture is the greatest of all sprays for potato diseases in the field.

Cull out Poor Cows—Weed out the unprofitable dairy cows. It is more profitable to milk three good cows than a half dozen poor ones.

Keep Range Clean—Every precaution should be taken to prevent stagnant pools from forming on the poultry range. These areas often are contaminated and become breeding places for flies and mosquitoes.

Fertilize Asparagus—Asparagus should be treated with commercial fertilizer at the end of the cutting season. If manure has been applied use 1000 pounds of 4-8-4 per acre. Without manure from 1200 to 1500 pounds of a 5-8-8 fertilizer is recommended by vegetable specialists of the Pennsylvania State College.

Great Crowd Certain At Hospital Benefit Friday Predicts Davy

WESLEY DAVY

General chairman Wesley Davy, of the Jameson Memorial Hospital night benefit mushball game at Taggart Field, was all smiles today as he expected a lot of interest in the coming event. Friday night is the big blow-off and it starts at 8:30 o'clock.

Besides the mushball game which features John "Hans" Wagner and Walter "Hub" Hart, former big league ball players, there will be various other stunts such as tumbling by Leroy Norton and his Ben Franklin boys, a Boy Scout drill and demonstration by the Scouts of New Castle with Herbert G. Horton, Scout Executive in charge. There will be several bands, and everything. It should be a gala night for Taggart Field. The price of admission is very low, within reach of everybody.

Reserved seat tickets are being sold by the Hart Sporting Goods Store on East Washington street. There have been a number of persons inquire about reserved seats and they can be obtained at Harts. The Sporting Goods Store and Cripps Hardware store also have general admission tickets.

The public address system is being installed by the M. & D. Radio Shop and Bart Richards with his clear tones will be heard over the "Air." The game will be broadcast to all parts of the stadium, as per balls and strikes etc.

Friday night promises to be a night of nights at Taggart Field. There has been a lot of work connected with this benefit and the men back of it would like to see it go over with a bang.

The Jameson Hospital can use a lot of money and it is for a good cause. Davy today announced the players would participate in the mushball game. The stunts come first and then when it gets dark enough to turn on the lights the mushball game will get under way.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things around New Castle

Another flier hops the big ditch, another transoceanic flight is completed, and Davy Jones' locker nearly got another cluster of boards. Kingsford-Smith, the intrepid Australian ace made it from Ireland to Newfoundland in spite of fog, although when they landed in Harbor Grace there wasn't much more gasoline left than enough to clean a necktie.

This is supposed to be the Australian's last big flight. Seems as though he's going to get married and the young lady insists that she would sooner be the wife of a man who doesn't get in the papers much, than the widow of an ocean flier.

Strictly in the interests of science, one of the gang around the office has a sweet potato in a bottle, standing in the window, and from the way the thing is growing, in a few weeks we will have a first class hanging garden. Now the question arises whether a sweet potato growing in water will have young potatoes, and if so will they be as good as the ones grown in the ground.

The fish in French Creek are beginning to hunt holes in the rocks. Along the fishy telegraph system the warning has gone out, the finny S. O. S. which means "Slip Off Suddenly" has been sounded and the mamma fish and papa fish are warning the little fish of impending disaster. Jake Perelman, Sam Clark, Ed Logan and Wallace Wysner are leaving in a few days for a fishing camp on the creek and the annual mortality rate is due for a boost. And if Logan ever wears those plus fours, a lot of the fish will laugh themselves into an early grave.

There's a nearly mountainous scene right here in the city limits of New Castle that you may overlook in your quest for scenery. Right now Rural avenue is a picture, one well worth shooting or drawing. A winding road, steep as a mountain road, banked on either side with high walls of green draperies, with the sun seldom getting through.

And Rural avenue is just the beginning. Turn left at the bottom of the street and you find yourself in a spot where Nature herself seems to be satisfied with results. Some day the road along the Neshaunock Creek will be widened, the steam edges will be cleaned up, and tourists will come from far off to see it.

Right now, McConnell's Mills is getting its usual heavy run of tourist traffic. Saturday and Sunday sees cars from Pittsburgh and points farther east crowded into the restricted parking area, while up and down the gully can be heard the ahs and ohs of visitors who have never been there before. Didn't we talk something about making a park of that district a year or so ago?

Another pretty spot on the Slippery Rock is one seldom visited by the general run of scenery seekers. The spot is located below the Heinz House camp in a Colorado. The creek winds and bends through the rocks, high hills frown down upon it, while along the bank one finds gullies and glens that lend themselves to a riotous imagination.

P. R. R. To Delay Cab Signal Work On Local Division

New "Fool Proof" System Is Contemplated Under Company's Plans

MAIN LINE WORK
NOW UNDER WAY

Installation of the intricate "fool proof" cab signal system on tracks and in engines operating over the Erie and Ashtabula division of the Pennsylvania railroad, is contemplated under the present company's plans, but officials say work on the new system will not be started before next fall.

The Pennsylvania has already begun installation of the system on its main line tracks between Pittsburgh and Altoona, at a cost of $1,000,000. The main line signals are expected to be ready for operation by Nov. 1.

The new signal device will permit the engineer to sit in his cab and receive the signals instead of putting his head out of the cab window to catch them from a distant block.

Speaking of the merits of the new system, O. A. Ishler, superintendent of telegraph and signals for the E. and A. said:

"It is the three-light signal system. Three lights straight up and down means a clear track ahead. Three lights across the center, from left to right, means stop. Three lights across the board on an angle means proceed with caution."

"The lights are set by the train directly ahead and are transmitted from the rail. Any break in the rail, any interference with the signal system or fouling of the track by another train would automatically set the stop signal in the cab of the engine."

"One signal is placed before the engineer while a duplicate is right in front of the fireman on the other side. Should an engineer for any reason fail to realize that a block was against him the fireman would notice the block and stop the train."

Installation of the new system on the local division's tracks will be a smaller task perhaps than it will on other divisions, it was explained, due to the fact that only a few months ago a new system of automatics was installed all over the division.

Tells Progress Of State Health Cars

HARRISBURG, June 25.—Reports of the progress of the Child Health cars were made public to-day by Dr. Mary Riggs Noble, chief of the pre-school section, Department of Health for the first two weeks of June. Car No. 1 examined 617 preschool children in Schuylkill county, while 588 were examined in Erie county by the personnel of car number two.

While vision testing has always been a part of the program of the health cars, its usefulness has been increased by the fact that this year it is being done by especially trained medical students, equipped with the very latest type electrical reflectors and charts.

KELVINATOR now gives a wonderful thing with electric refrigeration. It builds Four Automatic Services into one refrigerator. It is as if you had four electric refrigerators in your home—(1) One for ordinary food preservation; (2) One for cold storage of fish, game, ice cream, etc.; (3) One for freezing ice at regular Kelvinator speed; (4) One for extra-fast freezing of ice, desserts, etc.

And all four compartments of the Kelvinator are maintained at their various degrees of cold Automatically—without any attention or regulation on your part.

More Ice—Ice More Quickly—with this Greater Kelvinator

*1—World's Fastest Freezing—because of Kelvinator's extra-fast freezing compartment. Also freezes desserts more quickly. Iso-Thermic Tubes—exclusive to Kelvinator—make this possible. Merely placing a tray of water or dessert in a special fast-freezing compartment starts the quick freezing operation, which stops automatically. Nothing to regulate. Nothing to burden the memory. No danger of freezing foods in other compartments.

*2—More Ice—Greater Ice Capacity in Kelvinator—Size for size, de luxe model Kelvinators have the greatest ice capacity of any electric refrigerator—providing ice beyond any average household requirement.

*3—Cold Storage—Separate compartment with

Below—Freezing Cold for frozen fruits, and other delicacies; meats, fish and game. These should be kept extra cold—and you can keep them extra cold with Kelvinator's special facilities.

*4—Scientific Cold Range 40° to 50°—Main food compartment maintained at 40° to 50 degrees cold—eliminating all danger of spoilage which science says may be caused either by too low or too high a temperature.

*All of these 4 Degrees of Cold are produced AUTOMATICALLY—without thought or worry on your part. The model Kelvinator you require may be purchased on easy terms through Kelvinator's attractive ReDisCo monthly budget plan.

Warns Industries Of Fake Solicitors

HARRISBURG, June 25.—Pennsylvania industries to-day were cautioned by the bureau of inspection of the Department of Labor and Industry to be on their guard against solicitors who represent that they are obtaining contributions for the benefit of a "Pennsylvania Factory Inspectors' Association." Reports of operations of these solicitors have been received from several sections of the State.

Bureau of Inspection said to-day that there is no association of this sort in existence and that any effort to obtain money under such pretense should be reported promptly to the nearest State Factory Inspector or State Policeman. The Department of State Police is assisting the Department of Labor and Industry in an effort to apprehend the alleged swindlers.

Church Spires Are Hit By Epidemic

(International News Service)

MARSEILLES, June 25.—This city is complaining of a malady among the church spires and towers. The first case of the fever was experienced by the church of Reformes, which shed a number of the bricks in the tower. The old St. Maurice fort was the second to suffer, a few days later, with a heavy falling of stones from one of the towers. The danger of such occurrences to passersby is so great that a campaign is underway to compel the immediate inspection and renovation of all the old towers and spires of the city.

There's one great improvement. A man down and out isn't tempted to spend his last dime for a drink.

It might be worse. Nobody has yet thought to serve spinach in bright colors.

Miss Castleton, Racing Pigeon From Cooper Loft Making Good Distance Speeds

Five hundred miles will be the distance of the next pigeon race in which W. H. Cooper, of 109 S. Jefferson St., will enter several crack racers from his loft. This event will take place on Saturday, and Mr. Cooper's birds and birds from other lofts in the "Original" and "Girard" racing pigeon clubs, will be crated to Vandalia, Illinois. The crates will be sealed as is usual.

Every week the distance of the races is becoming longer and longer. The five hundred race of this coming Sunday will be of especial interest to the club members because of the distance. Only the best flyers from each loft will be entered in the race. Mr. Cooper is the only New Castle man

Three Murder Cases On Argument List

Prothonotary R. M. Campbell is making out the argument list for argument court to be held on July 7. Among the cases are those of Irene Schroeder and Glenn Dague convicted of the murder of Corporal Brady Paul. Applications for new trials will be argued in both cases. After the arguments the court will consider the reasons advanced for an against the application and hand down an opinion.

Another murder case to be argued on an application for a new trial is that of Bertha Blunt, who was convicted of shooting John H. King.

New Trial Asked In Johnson Case

Application for a new trial has been filed by defendant's attorney in the case of Huston Johnson, who was convicted at the recent term of court of the murder of Charles McMurray. The jury in this case recommended life imprisonment. McMurray was stabbed by Johnson during an altercation on Moravia street. It is probable that Judge Chambers, before whom the case was tried, will give a decision on the application when court convenes on July 7th.

"Your name is mud," hissed the raindrops to the dust.

New York Boxing Commission Plans To Stop Fouling

New Method Of Determining Fouls Will Help Fight Game Is Belief

LIFE OF BOXING IS THREATENED

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 25.—Perhaps the next large gentleman, who offers to do a bonnie Annie Laurie in front of the customers here and "lay him down" die," may hear the clock strike ten while he lies there, so pitifully still, so pathetic, so inert. This is cited as a possibility. It will be an actuality, if the New York commission's preliminary tests of a new foul device is definitely adopted here, there will be no foul punches recognized in New York; only knockdowns, knockouts and fadeouts, these being named strictly in the reverse order of their dramatic requirements.

Drastic Action
This drastic action will be taken, if and when it proves practicable, as a curb upon the epidemic of million-dollar fouls that are threatening the life of boxing, here and elsewhere. Another item that may be taken as considerably more than a possibility concerns the fact that the large gentleman in question is not likely to be Primo Carnera. He probably groveled himself into the big money of million-dollar prize fights when he was in Philadelphia the other night when George Godfrey struck himself out in the fifth round but Primo, it seems, will gripe not, neither will he.

They say Carnera will not have the bars lifted in New York until he is squared away with the California commission, which may or may not be shortly after the lion and lamb become bedfellows.

Anyhow, they don't intend "even to listen to him here" unless California says the word, according to the tip I get, which may be taken for what it is worth. Personally, I think it will be worth a good deal, although that regard must be given to the fact that boxing commissions have been known to change their minds.

Committee Appointed
As for the four racket, everybody's testimony seems to be that no fighter can be more than momentarily non-plussed by a low punch. It, therefore, remains only for the commission to adopt such equipment that will guarantee to protect it.

A deputized committee of referees and judges is to carry out thorough tests of the proposed device here and a favorable report by them will mean the adoption of a no-foul rule here with commendable promptitude. This would mean that the old swashbuckling phrase, "everything goes" would come back into boxing to make better fighters of the good ones and no fighters of the kind of the bad ones, which is the kind of fighters the latter should be. Due cognizance, of course, would be taken of illegal punches in computing the points after a round but no illegal punch would end the fight—unless the referee refused to arise, take up his dogs and fight.

The thing probably will be given a practical test in the Mandell-Singer championship fight of July 17. Single-fighters have been offered to insert a no-foul clause in the contract, under these circumstances, and since Mandell wins on his feet instead of his face, it seems likely that he will incur.

It seems to be the one step that will save boxing from itself. The theatre box office which couldn't guarantee that the curtain wouldn't be rung down in the middle of the first act, sooner or later would face a boycott. It stands to reason that boxing is in duty bound to furnish a similar assurance and, failing to do so, cannot long survive.

Rosenbloom-Slatery To Battle Tonight

(Special To The News)
BUFFALO, N. Y., June 25.—Maxie Rosenbloom, of New York, today stands at the threshold of the light heavyweight championship of the world.

Tonight in the Bison Stadium, he fights Jimmy Slatery, Buffalo's pride and joy, with the 175 pound title at stake. A victory on points or by a knockout, will give the Harlem Hebrew the title he has so long sought, and which has been Slatery's since last winter, when he beat Leo Leozza.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

The state athletic commission after hearing the Godfrey-Carnera case cut $5,000 from the $10,000 purse of George Godfrey, who fouled Carnera in the fifth round at Philadelphia. His license to box in Pennsylvania was revoked. The Carnera stable was also suspended because one of the Carnera stable hit a deputy inspector who insisted that Jack Silvers wear a protector prescribed by the state. This will include Carnera though he was in no way involved.

Frenchy Bellanger and Phil Tobias will box Monday night at the Jolly bowl and it should be a classic. Frenchy is the greatest flyweight in Canada and his manager, the well known Playfair Brown of Toronto, and Canadians believe he is superior to Midget Wolgast. Tobias has charged that the flyweights have discriminated against him. It is a better looking fight on paper than the Lavies-Wolgast fight. Bellanger is a terrific puncher. Tobias hits very good. When Bellanger fights in Toronto an eight dollar top is the cost and it is nothing for him to cut in on a $20,000 house.

Frenchy has had the following opponents on the floor: Willie Davies, Frankie Genaro, Newsboy Brown, Pablo Dano, Marty Gold, Harry Hill, Izzy Schwartz, Eddie Durano. Tobias holds victories over Ernie Peters, Johnny McCoy and claims also to have won decisions over Willie Davies and Midget Wolgast. He fought Black Bill, but in the split the referee gave him the decision. If this fight doesn't draw a packed house here honey won't attract flies. It is something worth while seeing. When they appear the fans will be getting the best.

The first rebellion against Judge Landis' baseball decisions broke out at Milwaukee when the Milwaukee club of the A. A. brought suit in federal court to prevent the transfer of First Baseman Bennett to the St. Louis Browns. The Browns had turned Bennett over to Milwaukee for two years. The Browns held an option to take him back, waive its option to another major league club or release him outright. Milwaukee refused to let him go back to the Browns.

MUSHBALL LEAGUE

The Mercantile games were washed out by the rain last night. It was raining up until 6 o'clock and it is understood that all games were postponed. It will necessitate the playing off of several more games.

There are several postponed games on the card for tonight as follows: Radiator Works vs. Shenango Tin Mill, Radiator field; News All-Stars vs. Bell Telephones, Washington field; Lockley Machines vs. P. & O. Electric, Tin Mill field; Spencers and Haneys will tangle at Lehigh field.

The News All-Stars will take the field against the Phone boys tonight with a new set of managers. Charles "Bugs" Walther, president of the mushball league, has relinquished the reins of The News team to Lou Harlan and Bill Eroe. All managers are asked to take notice of the change in management of the News All-Stars.

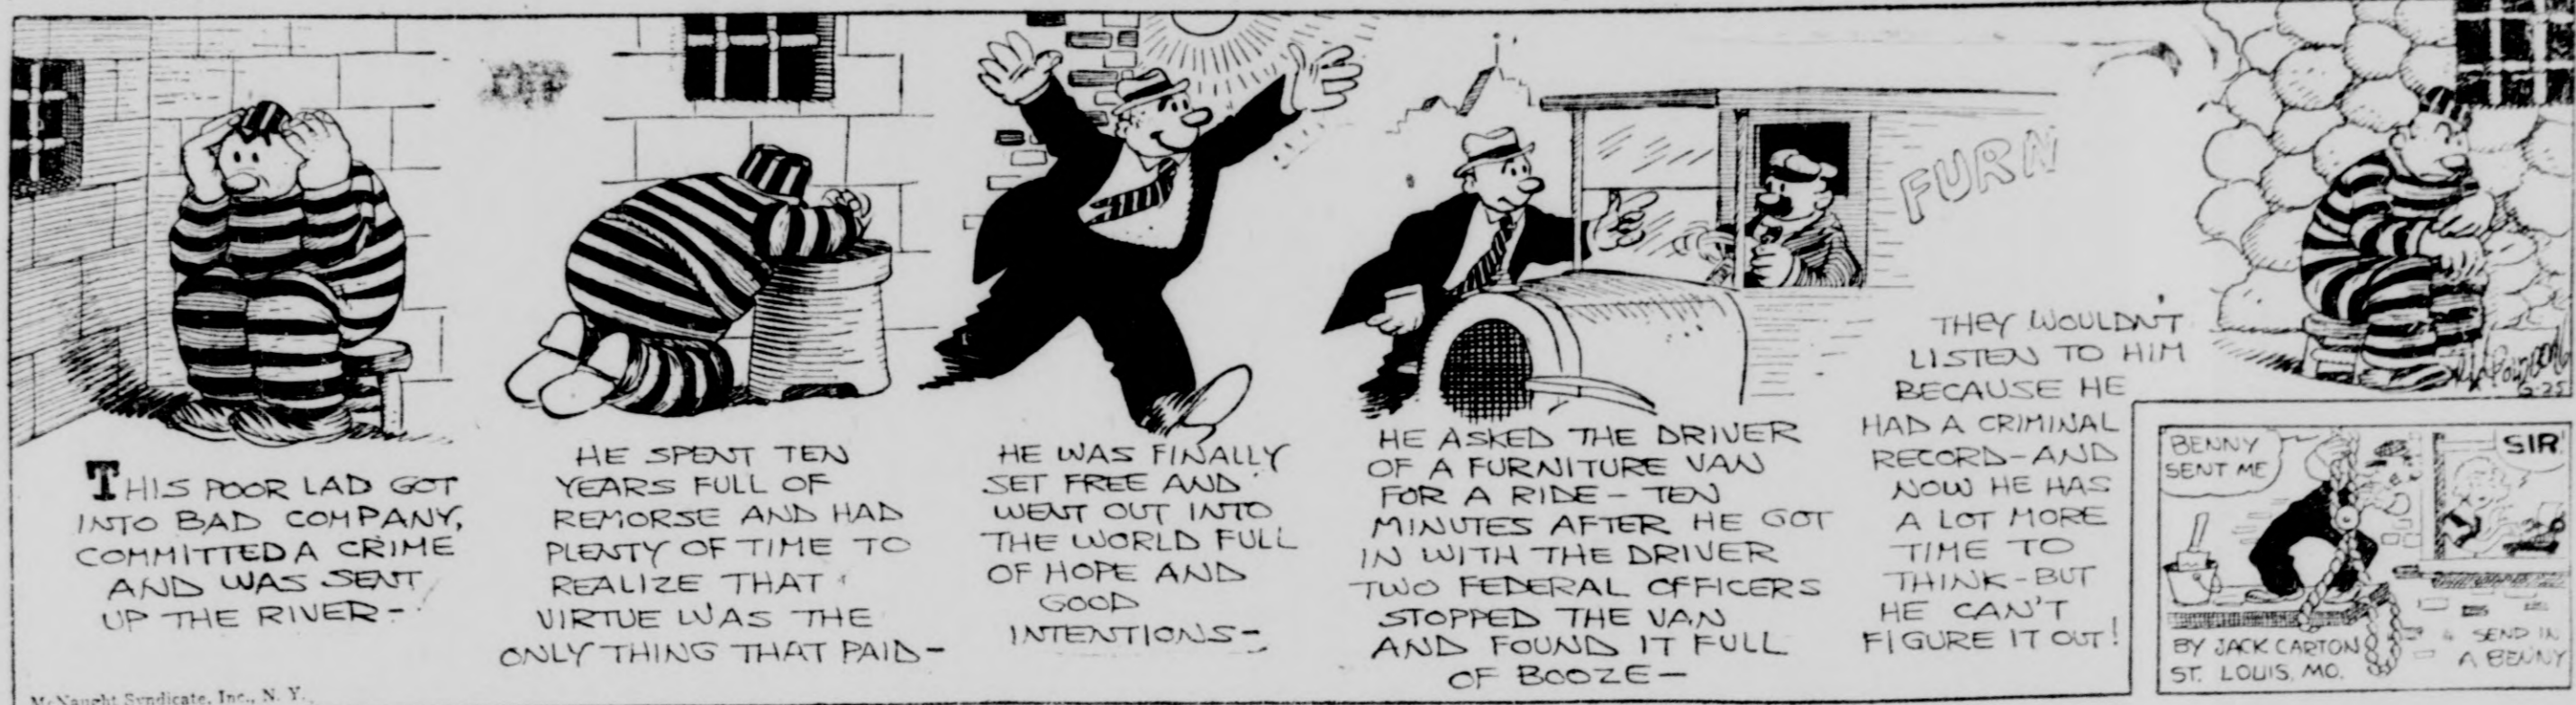

How about those tickets for the big benefit game at Taggart field Friday night? You can still buy as many tickets as you want. They sell for two-bits a piece and 50 cents for reserved seats. Come and watch the boys throw mushballs by moonlight. There will be a number of other stunts in connection with the event.

WISCONSIN CREW TRIES A GAIN FOR ROWING TITLE

Nosed out four times in their quests for the national intercollegiate rowing title, Wisconsin is back at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., for another try this year. Beaten by Washington in a dual race, the Badgers were not rated much of a chance to win the oar classic by rowing enthusiasts.

Brooklyn-Cubs Open Important Series Of Games

Brooklyn Hopes To Keep In First Place After Series With Pesky Cubs

LARRY BENTON
TAMES GIANTS

By COPELAND G. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 25.—Every once in a while in the life of every important person there comes a time when he tightens up his belt, adjusts his tie and walks forth with a light in his eye which betokens he has entered the land in which there is no turning back. And the Brooklyn Robins almost choked themselves on their ties today, for the league leading Robins come to grips tomorrow with the Chicago Cubs, who have disturbed them plenty in the past.

The second place Bruins showed they were in such form yesterday when they walked over the Phillies 6 to 1 that the big sticks of the flock will have to work elegantly if the crucial Chicago series is not to be the start of the long-predicted Brooklyn slump. Blair and Wilson of the Cub's Lethal Row, along with Stephenson and Grimm, each got two hits yesterday and this underslung person Hack Wilson, who has cracked out 22 homers this season, may again lead his teammates in an undoing attack.

Benton Subdues Giants
Handsome Larry Benton subdued his former team mates, the Giants 4 to 1. The Cincinnati red-head teased along the New Yorkers by allowing them 11 hits but when it came to transforming these into runs Mr. Benton was fearfully firm and eight Giants died on the bags.

Winning their third straight from Cleveland, 7 to 0, the Senators gained on the column-topping Athletics. Hadley gave the Indians only five bingles.

Wallie Berger tied Wilson for the lead in National League circuits when he homered off Hallahan as the Cardinals overwhelmed the Boston Braves 11 to 3.

Sweeney pinch-hit around the sacks to win for Boston 5 to 4 over Detroit but the Tigers evened the doubleheader by grabbing the second 8 to 7 in ten innings. Alexander whaled three hits for the Bengals in the tea timber.

Rain swept away Brooklyn at Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. St. Louis, New York and Chicago were idle in the American plant.

Women's first-track motorcycle races are to be held in Europe.

Seek To Restrain Judge Landis From Transferring Player

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, June 25.—A suit brought by the Milwaukee club of the American Association was viewed here today as a possible revolt against the authority of Kenesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of organized baseball.

The suit, filed in the United States district court on behalf of the Milwaukee club, seeks to restrain Commissioner Landis from transferring Fred Bennett from the Milwaukee club to the St. Louis Browns.

Landis previously had ordered the St. Louis team, which turned Bennett, a first baseman, over to Milwaukee on option for two years, to either take him back, waive its option to another club, or release Bennett outright.

The Milwaukee club refused to allow Bennett to return to St. Louis. This is the first protest against the authority of Landis since he became czar of baseball following the "Black Sox" scandal of 1920.

Phil Ball, owner of the St. Louis Browns, is said to have a part interest in the Milwaukee club. Miss Florence Killilea is also a part owner of the Brewers team.

Hadassah Hears Palestine Speakers

Members Hear Of Jewish Customs In The Holy Land
By Natives Of Palestine

At the concluding meeting of the year the New Castle Chapter of the Hadassah held a most interesting program in Temple Israel Tuesday evening.

The evening opened with piano numbers played in a most pleasing manner by Harriet Kline after which the additional annual reports were given by the committee heads and Mrs. L. F. Kohn, in a ceremonious manner, installed the officers for the coming year.

The speakers of the evening, Mr. and Mrs. A. Argamon, native born Palestinians, who are now teaching in Youngstown, were then introduced and Mr. Argamon, talking in Hebrew, gave a short talk on conditions in Palestine at the present time. Mr. Argamon was an officer in the Turkish army and in the recent Arabic riots took part in the defense, aiding the Jewish population in Palestine. He told of the need of a fund to carry on the work in that country, telling in an interesting manner of the different classes of people in the Holy Lands, the tillers, the renters and the work they are putting forward to fertilize the country.

Mrs. Argamon, who is a linguist of ability, spoke in English and told her personal impressions of the Holy Land, having left there about ten months ago. She compared the life of the Jews in Palestine to a mosaic picture, being colorful and each life adding a jewel to the picture.

She told of the manner in which the natives of Palestine celebrate the three spring holidays and of the double meaning of each one; the Passover, in addition to be of a religious nature also calls forth the spring and renewing of life; Lag-b'Omar is a time of feasting and merry making, and also celebrates the life of Shimon and his son; and Shabbath, the feast of the pioneers, when they bring the best of their produce to the city and display the fruits of the land and give thanks for same, selling these products in order to buy land in Palestine, in order to renew the Jewish country.

Ride in Safety Trade In YOUR TREAD WORN TIRES

Hundreds of local motorists are jeopardizing their safety by riding on tires unfit for further use. Tires with smooth worn treads cannot be depended upon for safe traction at any speed. The few remaining miles are dangerous miles and it is false economy to place any reliance in them. The best and safest way is to bring them in today. We will allow you full value for every mile left in them in trade for a set of the new Fisk Air-Flight Principle Tires.

FISK AIR-FLIGHT PRINCIPLE TIRES

The Fisk Guarantee
Fisk Tires carry a guarantee for service which is unlimited as to time or mileage. Should you as a purchaser fail to receive the mileage from a Fisk Tire that you should reasonably expect, we will replace or repair it, charging only for the proportionate mileage it has delivered.

Drive in Today:
We have a First Quality, Fully Guaranteed Fisk Air-Flight Principle Tire to fit every car in this city at a price to suit every buyer.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Starting from a lower level of prices today, the leading industrial and utility stocks made a strong effort to recover their lost ground.

Tuesday's closing slump necessitated the usual hurry-up margin calling on speculative accounts and the inability to "sweeten up" margin accounts forced a considerable volume of stocks on the market. Prices of the leaders dipped 1 to 2½ points, but the volume of trading in the first-half hour was only about 600,000 shares, and the ticker was abreast of the market at the end of the first hour.

United States Steel received better support on the more cheerful outlook in the steel trade. The stock opened unchanged at 152½ and after dipping to a new low at 152½, rallied to 154. Vanadium Steel rallied about 4 points from the opening price, and recoveries of 1 to 2½ points were made in a dozen or more favorites. American Can rose from 109 to 111½ and Electric Power rose 2½ to 63.

The bears did not attempt to follow up their success in the railroad stocks and coppers, which were unusually dull and featureless. Anaconda dipped to 45½, but other copper stocks were steady. New York Central and Atchison sold above yesterday's final prices. The rally gathered momentum in the second hour, under the lead of the best grade industrials.

Grain markets were steady, but cotton lost about 70 cents a bale. Industrial reports were unchanged and call money was in supply at 2½ per cent.

You're the JUDGE

The Decision

The decision: The court acquitted Hicks. The judges reasoned thus: If the disease were a consequence of the wound, the person who inflicted the wound would be guilty. But here there was a supervening cause, not naturally intervening by reason of the wound. Death therefore was a visitation of Providence.

Bo Broadway by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press.
NEW YORK, June 25.—Just as soon as he gets a chance, Russ Owen, the New York newspaper man attached to the Byrd expedition, says he's going to undertake an exploration trip of his own around town, to get acquainted all over again.

Return to Tammany Town after an absence of eighteen months, and it's like entering a strange city. Unrest manifests itself in change.

In New York, anything that's endured for more than five years comes under the general heading of antiquities.

THEIR LOOKOUT.
Getting back to the Russ Owen feller.

When Russ was a kid his grandpaw came across him, one day, wearing down an over-ripe apple.

"Look out for th' worms, sonny," cautioned the old gentleman.

And the embryo newspaper reporter made answer:

"Ain't got time, Gramp. Th' worms a-gotta look out fer themselves!"

THE AD MEN.
Give an advertising man an infinitesimal spark of encouragement and off comes his coat, up go his sleeves and you can't see him for dust.

Admiral Byrd drifts into New York harbor and we all get up on our hind legs and give him three cheers—all except the advertising men. They'd like to cheer Byrd but their job consists in cheering their own particular line.

While the rest of us were tossing confetti and torn telephone books at the Admiral, the advertising men were sitting at their typewriters, hooking him up, inferentially, with gasoline, oil, barometers, binoculars, binnacles, liver pills, cuckoo clocks and chest protectors.

The publicity man for the Biltmore Hotel bought up entire pages in the papers to inform a gaping world that his inn had housed Byrd before his departure and the building in which the Admiral lived among the ice peaks of the Antarctic was named in honor of the New York hostelry.

REAL MERIT.
The enterprise and resourcefulness of the advertising men is a never-ending cause of wonder to the rest of us. Their ingenuity seems positively inexhaustible and their output, day after day, is stamped with a real literary merit that knows nothing of diminution.

FIRST OF THE LINE.
I've never understood why these Disciples of Little Jack Horner have not thought of rearing a monument to his memory. For it was Little Jack Horner who first gave advertising its real impetus. It was he who raised the first finger to arrest the attention of the crowd.

PERSONALITY STUFF.
The historic occasion, as scantily etched by the concave Mother Goose, reveals the young gentleman in question squatting in a corner, a huge Christmas pie between his knees.

When Pate jams the average chap into a corner, he be pie-laden or otherwise, he is usually content to remain in drab isolation.

It was different with Jack Horner. He was one of those Personality Chaps. All he had to sell was himself, and as I say, there he was backed up into a corner with the crowd milling by, intent upon their own particular worries and concerns.

"There was only one way to focus their attention. Necessity demanded a bizarre expedient, and Brother Horner took it.

"Hey!" he shouted.

The crowd turned and as they did so, quick as a flash, into the heart of the pie Jackie plunged his thumb, withdrew it immediately, and wagged it aloft, balancing thereon a plum.

And before they had time to recover from their astonishment he had driven home his message:

"What a great boy am I!" he shouted.

Therein lies the whole earthly and heavenly sense of all advertising.

"What a great boy am I!"

Naturally the crowd won't believe it the first time it's uttered. But repeat it morning, noon and night—especially in the columns of a five newspaper—and on the hundredth iteration the world will accept it as gospel.

Write the figure plainly, pin the tag to your coat tail, and that's your valuation in the eyes of the world.

Lazy Smokers Get A Break

(International News Service)
PARIS, June 25.—Lazy men please sit up and take notice! Here's your cigarette-holder which requires no effort to hold. It comes in wire. One end fastens on the ear and the other a clip, which, swinging on a hinged joint, holds the cigarette. Once the cigarette is lighted, the smoker need never bother with it again unless he wishes to stop puffing and then he merely releases the cigarette from his lips, gives his head a little jerk in the opposite direction and it swings away on its hinge.

Of course, there is a neat little trick in the performance, but even a lazy man can do it with a little practice.
